Hello Guys, Today i will show you How To Access Your Folders From Your Taskbar.

This is an easy way to get to the folders on your system without having to open a Windows Explorer Window every time you want to access files. I find it very useful to have this feature as it allows me to access my Folders and Drives immediately and saves my lot of time.

This works only in Windows XP:

1. Right Click an empty spot on your Taskbar (Between your Start Button and your System Tray).
2. Click Toolbars.
3. Click New Toolbar.
4. A Small Window will Open that allows you to pick the folder you wish to make a Toolbar. If you want to access your Desktop Without having to minimize all your windows. Just Pick Desktop. If you want to access only your My Documents Folder, Select that. Any folder will work for this.
5. Click OK.

The New Tool bar will appear at the bottom of your screen next to your System Tray.

And if u want to Remove that Toolbar From Your Taskbar Then, Repeat Steps 1 and 2 and then Check....Click the Toolbar you created that has a Check mark next to it. And it will disappear.

Hope This Will Help You.

ENJOY... ?
