

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: IDK whats going on....

Cernunnos - July 8, 2009, 6:45 am

in an earlier tread in this section i had problem w/ FF.

so i did a clean uninstall [all the way to the registry] and reinstalled it...

well the problem still persist.

my FF after about an hour of use would show up 2 or 3 times in my process and i cant kill them...?

but this time it happen in ~10 min of use...
whats going on??

TechieJeff - July 8, 2009, 6:50 am

FF= ??

Fusion Fall? More description.

And if you posted a thread earlier, bump it & don't make another thread please.

Valiant - July 8, 2009, 6:50 am

FF stands for Firefox, lol.

iBruteforce - July 8, 2009, 6:52 am

It's quite a common bug with Firefox, but I can always kill the process in task manager when it happens.

Make sure you're using the latest version (3.5).

http://www.filehippo.com/download_firefox/

TechieJeff - July 8, 2009, 6:53 am

(Jul 8, 2009 06:50 AM)kk415kk Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) FF stands for Firefox, lol.

How hard is it to say 'firefox'.....

Valiant - July 8, 2009, 6:59 am

People say FF for short, just like how you call Internet Explorer "IE".

Cernunnos - July 8, 2009, 7:28 am

lol wow acronyms ftw

ummm but on topic...

i just installed it [FF 3.5]

just happened again

and also noticed that IE does this infinite connection as well but i can kill its process...

im at a loss on this on...

[thats it... calling HP and gonna try the blame game] lol

IllusionSlayer - July 8, 2009, 10:10 am

try this and see if it helps

<http://forums.majorgeeks.com/showthread.php?t=173783>

Cernunnos - July 8, 2009, 3:06 pm

thats the exact problem im have w/ same symptoms and everything!

but that does help as the problem hasnt been resolved for him either...

i also ran CCleaner and ran 2 full scans...

to no avail?

is my luck that bad?