If you're not too fussed In terms of the type of VM used, try Virtual PC 2007.

Just like VirtualBox, It's also available as a freeware download.

if you have a usb filter installed then uninstall it, some programs have them... in this instance atiradeon graphics drivers/control center, had a usb filter installed... i uninstalled the entire program via control panel, etc.; restarted the computer and everything was good to go.

VB doesn't not work very good with USB. Try VMware Workstation (not free)

Hey I'm having this same problem. Except I have it with VirtualBox and Workstation. And I need to have my stuff synced so i can use backtrack 5. I'm trying to connect a D-Link Wireless USB adapter and VirtualBox recognizes it but won't attach it and Workstation won't even recognize it. Here Are my error codes.

VirtualBox-Code Result Code:

E_INVALIDARG (0x80070057)

Component:

HostUSBDevice

Interface:

IHostUSBDevice {173b4b44-d268-4334-a00d-b6521c9a740a}

Callee:

IConsole {515e8e8d-f932-4d8e-9f32-79a52ae882}

Workstation-Host USB device connections disabled. The connection to the VMware USB arbitration service was unsuccessful. Please check the status of this service in the Microsoft Management Console.

PLEASE HELP!!!! THANKS
