Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [Help] Photo's Taking A Lot Of Space

Crimin4L - February 8, 2014, 9:40 am

So today I plugged my iPhone 5 into my computer and looked at my storage on iTunes. Well on my phone I only see 90 photos, but on iTunes it says I have 200+ and its taking 4.21 GB of space. Now if I look on my phone it says that photos is only taking 3.80 GB. Still thats still a lot for only 90 photos.

Does anyone know why its taking this much space and is there a solution to this(Without transferring my photos to computer)?

RelationShit - February 8, 2014, 10:48 am

That's indeed strange, even my 7500 pics aren't 4gb..

Also I think it's easier for people to help you if they know if you're jailbroken or not, etc

Crimin4L - February 8, 2014, 11:43 am

(Feb 8, 2014 11:48 AM)RelationShit Wrote: [CITE] That's indeed strange, even my 7500 pics aren't 4gb..

Also I think it's easier for people to help you if they know if you're jailbroken or not, etc
No its not jailbroken, Just got this phone maybe 1-2 months ago.

Compulsive - February 8, 2014, 11:45 am

Do you take all your pictures in HDR? If so, that is probably why it takes so much space.

TempSwee - February 8, 2014, 11:48 am

Don't take pictures in HDR, It takes a lot of space.
Make sure that there is no hidden albums.
And look if you got videos in the pictures.
There is some videos that takes a lot of space.
Check with iTunes and with your iPhone
PM if u want more help!

Crimin4L - February 8, 2014, 8:13 pm

(Feb 8, 2014 12:48 PM)TempSwee Wrote: [CITE] Don't take pictures in HDR, It takes a lot of space.
Make sure that there is no hidden albums.
And look if you got videos in the pictures.
There is some videos that takes a lot of space.
Check with iTunes and with your iPhone
PM if u want more help!
I don't take any pictures in HDR, and how would I check to see if there is an hidden album?
I have 17 videos and the longest one is like 3 minutes.

TempSwee - February 9, 2014, 3:51 am

Connect your iDevice to your PC.
Don't open iTunes, Check "This Computer" and check the Image folder there.

Sometimes pics gets hidden.

ramonhackpro - February 9, 2014, 7:14 am

you could upload the pictues to Dropbox. Atleast that is was i'm doing.