Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Police brutality at their finest.

Kuso - February 8, 2014, 10:09 pm
[Video: http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=mepzPpo43PU]

Every year it gets worst, happens more often, spreads fear, and they barely get punished if the involved police officers actually do get some sort of sentence.

Squidward - February 8, 2014, 10:13 pm
United Police State of America

The first one... ?

Veld - February 8, 2014, 10:13 pm
Damn Pigs. They protect our society but at the same time find a way to abuse their powers.

ca9a2536fd8b17df76f7ee082 - February 8, 2014, 10:15 pm
I'll livestream some police brutality for ya' if you'd like me too.

wellager - February 8, 2014, 10:15 pm
Oh. I thought it was Google Expert whining again about how Topeka's police stole his rights. (well what do you know, our messiah has arrived)

This video is really extremist and biased. As if cops were all ruthless beasts and demons who attack the masses with no reason. In some cases the people is wrong, and in some cases the cops are wrong.

Plus, I like it how there's a police brutality compilation but no videos thanking the police.

Squidward - February 8, 2014, 10:20 pm
(Feb 8, 2014 11:17 PM)Panik Wrote: [CITE] People who watch "police brutality" videos are fucking morons.

I can't even start in on you right now.
This user is a fed. Don't trust him.

pew pew pew goes the pistol

Kuso - February 8, 2014, 10:23 pm
(Feb 8, 2014 11:15 PM)kami-sama Wrote: [CITE] Oh. I thought it was Google Expert whining again about how Topeka's police stole his rights. (well what do you know, our messiah has arrived)

This video is really extremist and biased. As if cops were all ruthless beasts and demons who attack the masses with no reason. In some cases the people is wrong, and in some cases the cops are wrong.

Plus, I like it how there's a police brutality compilation but no videos thanking the police.
No one said anything about cops are as so. Only to raise awareness about the problems that occur every year and more often every year without punishment the majority of times. Like what happened in fruitvale was a good as example, killed the person for nothing. Like what happened to the old man on the news that one time where he was literally just sitting on a chair outside and was shot 50 times. No punishment. There's many more that has happened, but seen no place of showing the need to give attention to this.

wellager - February 8, 2014, 10:31 pm

(Feb 8, 2014 11:23 PM)Maryland™ Wrote: [CITE] No one said anything about cops are as so. Only to raise awareness about the problems that occur every year and more often every year without punishment the majority of times. Like what happened in fruitvale was a good as example, killed the person for nothing. Like what happened to the old man on the news that one time where he was literally just sitting on a chair outside and was shot 50 times. No punishment. There's many more that has happened, but seen no place of showing the need to give attention to this.

That's really the message I got by watching this video. It gives all cops a negative image while not all cops are like this, and there is NO information whatsoever about what happened for the cops to do what they did. In other words, the cop MIGHT have been right, but would be the perpetrator of evil because whoever made that video and that son didn't bother to give details about what happened.

I agree with you on the police brutality point, but those videos are just outrageous. If they want to talk about cops they should bring up the good and the bad, not only the bad to demonize them.

Kuso - February 8, 2014, 10:50 pm

(Feb 8, 2014 11:31 PM)kami-sama Wrote: [CITE] That's really the message I got by watching this video. It gives all cops a negative image while not all cops are like this, and there is NO information whatsoever about what happened for the cops to do what they did. In other words, the cop MIGHT have been right, but would be the perpetrator of evil because whoever made that video and that son didn't bother to give details about what happened.

I agree with you on the police brutality point, but those videos are just outrageous. If they want to talk about cops they should bring up the good and the bad, not only the bad to demonize them.

Reason I think there was no need to have a video of the good is because it is shown for the public on television at times. This video didn't demonized cops, but rather question the government and how officers are trained, recruited, and controled.

Like the first clip, you'd just think it is to show bad cops and the worse when it comes to a higher number of accidents every year, but not entirely. Its just a why moment. The guy said "holy shit" because you wouldn't expect that unless he had combatant or had a life threatening moment to anyone. You expect them to secure a situation, not do things completely unorthadoxed.

Majority of the people nowadays are just as if the citizens in China back in the 1900's. No one trusted them, talked to them, got near them, and feared them. Not entirely because of police are brutal and evil like back then, but rather wouldn't know what they are capable of anymore. Literally, when a cop is around, you would question if the situation would be okay for everyone? They have power, because of having a free pass. That there is what's on the peoples mind and how they can be unpredictable of wether they are actually here to help.