Thread: Curiosity...

Grammar Rays - February 1, 2011, 6:08 pm

I was thinking, why do the links near the top say "View New Posts" and "View Today's Posts" instead of "New Posts " and "Today's Posts " or the opposite with the two links afterwards?

I was just wondering why it wasn't all "View... " and yeah, this isn't really even a problem, I am just curious.

Thanks,
Phil

Haha I don't know, just is I guess. Omni probably just typed it in that way. I kind of like it with 'View' tbh

Lol Grammar, chill out with all these threads.

Xerotic - February 1, 2011, 6:11 pm

That is how MyBB is. When I set up my own forum (for learning purposes) that is what it says.

Are you going to find every single thing wrong with HF and just post it here? I am just saying, I have seen like a couple random threads posted here, like removing the space in one of the subforum descriptions. Its nice that you are finding these things, but I think sometimes it doesnt matter and IMO is not threadworthy.

I'm going to have to agree with you, and to be frank I can consider the OP low quality in this situation.

My opinion on it:

Having view after each thing would become redundant. After the two the view is assumed.

Does it actually really matter? I've never even noticed it.. ?

Daniel Faraday - February 1, 2011, 6:14 pm

The first two were there first so they had the same style.

The second two were added after-the-fact and Omni decided to word them that way.

It probably isn't important enough for him to change.

It really doesn't, but OP made the thread with hopes of getting some sort of answer so I figured I'd give him one.

Are you Hack Forum's inspector? :3 It's nice that you are noticing and pointing out stuff but things like this, doesn't need to be posted on a thread, if you want to know the actual answer, PM Omni himself and he can give you the most reasonable answer. Even though, I wouldn't PM him about this. xD

I agree with you, as I agreed with cobija, certain little things should be PM'd to Omni. But not recommended ?

Grammar Rays - February 1, 2011, 6:19 pm

I wasn't implying for him to change, I was just curious to why it is like that.

And whoever said I am finding all the bad things wrong with HackForums, I am not, and if I was, I am doing everyone a favor because someone would probably find and post about the issues anyway. But this isn't an issue, simply my curiosity...

If you're curious don't make a thread where us users don't know PM omni.

Just take my answer, it makes sense although it probably isn't the real reason since I assume there isn't a real reason. I just assume if you put view after each one it would be really redundant and unnecessary.

the last 3-4 PM's I have sent to Jesse regarding anything, I have been warned for.

This is just a question, who knows, we might learn something, just calm down a bit.

You got warned for sending him dumb PMs 3-4 times, so you made a thread for each of your problems?

If omni already warned you for your "nonsense" why do you continue?
