Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Change email addres name

PPlobi - December 5, 2014, 9:10 pm
Hello all

I have yet another question?
How can i change my email name when i send an email to someone

I asked about web domains earlier so i could buy one from a webhost but i read that there is a way to change it or something so that it coul look like blabla@blabla

Thank you this site has helped me out a lot ?

MrToyEater - December 5, 2014, 9:32 pm
deadfake.com/Send.aspx Hope this helped!

lol I put a link in there without doing 50 posts. All I did was remove the "http ://"!

420BLAZEITMTNDEWDORITOSOHBABYATRIPLEMOMGETTHECAMERA#HASBROWNSGAMEOTHEYEAR.....Sorry, got a little, let me italicize it, LITTLE, carried away. :O I capitalized it too! ?

Tirus - December 5, 2014, 9:39 pm
An Email spoofer would do the trick to spoof an email name.

MrToyEater - December 5, 2014, 9:40 pm
Well to completely answer your question, you can't change your email, for example: mickey@gmail.com --> doritos@mtndewsponsormlg.gov, you can only send it on a separate website without using your actual email for anything or having anything to do with it. You can only fill out on a website what you want them to see the sender as.

PPlobi - December 5, 2014, 10:30 pm
(Dec 5, 2014 10:40 PM)MrToyEater Wrote: [CITE] Well to completely answer your question, you can't change your email, for example: mickey@gmail.com --> doritos@mtndewsponsormlg.gov, you can only send it on a separate website without using your actual email for anything or having anything to do with it. You can only fill out on a website what you want them to see the sender as.
what do you mean do you mean a specific website or something?
Because i saw that there were peaople who even send emails with adresses belongin to a bank there was one info@abn.nl abn is a dutch bank

(Dec 5, 2014 10:39 PM)Tirus Wrote: [CITE] An Email spoofer would do the trick to spoof an email name.
okay do you know a good one i never heard of a email spoofer how does it work

hey mrtoyeater sorry was a bit to quick with my reply i tried that site and jeah it works so thanks but it ends up in the spam box with me is there a way to fix that

hey mrtoyeater sorry was a bit to quick with my reply i tried that site and jeah it works so thanks but

it ends up in the spam box with me is there a way to fix that

MrToyEater - December 6, 2014, 11:01 am

(Dec 5, 2014 11:30 PM)PPlobi Wrote: [CITE] what do you mean do you mean a specific website or something?
Because i saw that there were peaople who even send emails with adresses belongin to a bank there was one info@abn.nl abn is a dutch bank

okay do you know a good one i never heard of a email spoofer how does it work

hey mrtoyeater sorry was a bit to quick with my reply i tried that site and jeah it works so thanks but it ends up in the spam box with me is there a way to fix that

hey mrtoyeater sorry was a bit to quick with my reply i tried that site and jeah it works so thanks but it ends up in the spam box with me is there a way to fix that Sorry I don't know how to fix it from appearing in the spam box. Maybe you can contact the people from the website and see what they say, or you can just find another website. Try:
www.anonymailer.net/

IISP33DII - December 7, 2014, 3:55 pm

Search this forum for a emailspoofer