I was supposed to buy the membership for him which was 5.95 (Which I did pay for the membership) the receipt is posted below, In exchange I was supposed to get RuneScape gold (10 Million). I team viewed him and saw the gold (Idk if it was even the right amount because as soon as he showed he ended it VERY quickly) so I said alright I let him view me while I purchased his member ship with my credit card I also have the email which Runescape sent the receipt to that is also below so yeah I paid then he said he was gonna send it then he logged off of EVERYTHING MSN & HF I sent him countless amounts of emails and pm's which he has yet to reply to so please do something like permaban him I've contact Runescape through email and also my cc company (wells fargo) so I hope to get my money back and membership canceled

Yeah it does, I'm glad it wasn't a great amount of money but still it was my main CC so yeah I don't know if he has the info to it or not, I was able to cancel his membership though I've also sent an email out asking for a refund and to get both his accounts banned. But yeah I doubt he'll be on here again

You can't really submit in into a credit card fraud. Because he did not commit the fraud. You use your cc for the the membership with by doing it your self.. It will be cc fraud if he the one did it. Plus they wouldnt really care about 6$.

But yah good luck, talk to your bank about it, yuo can also get him ban on runescape by either canceling the membership. I forgot how but when you purchase membership and if the payment didn't go thru or get canceled, account usally get ban.

Yeah I know, I knew I shouldn't have gone first he's barely on but I was like yeah whatever it's just 5.00 nothing will go wrong. My biggest concern is he may have my cc info

Grabs - February 7, 2011, 2:55 pm

Correct me if I'm wrong but,

Aren't you freaking stupid to even show bits of your CC info to him over teamviewer?

Luckily it wasn't that much. With the rate of all these Rs scams I doubt It's going to be allowed on the market much longer...
