Thread: Camtasia Vs Sony Vegas

So I have been looking into doing alot of video editing, I have a Elgato and I have a GoPro and am trying to do a few bits and bobs on YouTube and I have come across a lot of varying reviews on the two of them. Is there anyone in the Video Editing sub that has either two of them and what would you say is best for overall usability and idiot friendly interface?

I want something that will be easy to use once I get the hang of it but still not feel like a complete moron when I first start using it.

Used camtasia, loved it until it turned shit for me. Bugged out for some reason. Also never managed to produce hd videos. Whenever I had hd clips and edited them, it turned out lq on YouTube.

vegas is great to use, easy to understand but can go in depth if you know how to use it well!
