UB3R & L33T ONLY

RequirementsUb3r or L33t;

Quality microphone that is working properly;

Can speak clearly and effectively;

Socialize with others in this community and open-minded to topics;

Desktop or laptop with stable high-speed internet;

Use Skype, Discord, or both;

Have enough time to put in at least 3-4 hours from Thursday to Saturday each week.

General ApplicationWe'll first need to get to know you better. Below is a link to a form you will have to complete. Answer honestly - lying won't help your application. You may team up with others and create your own podcast team however all of you will have to be individually accepted. Just note that applying with a premade team may increase your chances assuming a team of friends will perform better than a team of randoms.

Click Here to Apply

Sample PodcastIf you applied with a group, you will be asked to create a sample podcast with the group. If you applied solo, you and other solo applicants will be assigned to a sample group and create your own sample podcast. Details of this sample podcast will be PM'd to you after passing general application.

If you have any questions, please post them in this thread. Thank you.

Do we need to be Ub3r or L33t? I can make a worthy application, and although I'm new, I'm viewed as "high quality".

I can impress you.

There was a podcast team a while back but was closed down. Working on returning it.

3-4 hours from Thursday to Saturday for the following reasons:
-There will be times a member is not available for a certain day so it has to be rescheduled
-3-4 hours gap where you'll need to be online so you can all wait for each other and prepare for the podcast. Podcast itself shouldn't take more than 20 minutes (the podcast itself will be 5-8 minutes long itself)
-People who have time on their hands will be best fit which is why it's overexaggerated.

Grin was a fuck. But atleast Clark made fun of him :(

Edit: Also don't have the same people do all of them. It would be nice to have a couple people remain in each one, but PLEASE add random guests.
We'll work hard on making it the best but yea, that was the classic team. Oh well

Egregious Jr. - October 22, 2016, 8:25 pm

It'll be hard to compare to the OG Podcast crew. But yeah definitely should have guests come into the podcast each time. That can be part of the podcast job, or at least it should be part of their job imo.

Considering this, have a good mic and all.

Horribly Swedish accent tho so might not be all to appealing.

HF Writ3rs is one of the great groups of HF through which you have serve the community. Good luck to all who are applying. I won't be though mainly because of my accent.
