HF Assistant (PM view/Reply, Thread Watcher)

Quick questions:

What is this?

This application monitors your Private Messages and threads created by you, and notifies you when you receive a response.

How does it work?

It logs into HF for you, and display's the data in the application. It notifies you when you receive a response or new PM so there is no need to stay logged in when waiting for a response.

This program is a follow up the the PM Viewer that I had released here. I don't plan on releasing any updated versions of this so any updates you want to make to it go ahead. As with anything, don't leech it and put you name all over it calling it yours. I will be releasing the source to everyone, Dowload Link now at the bottom of this post. Thanks to everyone for the feedback.

The only thing I did not code, is the AESencryption that I used to encrypt passwords if 'Save Password' was selected. I got lazy and used Ethereal's translated code since it worked for what I needed.

It uses WebRequests to login and also to grab source, which is then parsed and displayed.

Odayleet - February 11, 2011, 2:08 pm

Wow, awesome buddy!

I'm curious how you are getting the response from thread, if I could take a look at the source it would be cool.

Used StreamWriter to save the cookie, then StreamReader to create a cookie and put it into a cookie container. Sent you a PM for the source.

edit well thats what i meant to do, just remembered in this I read the cookies into a string array instead of StreamReader (it was late). Same concept, just sloppy.

Not sure, I guess it's how I learned. I probably have a lot of bad habits since I taught myself from the ground up. Atleast I name my Contols and variables ?. A lot of times when I code, I will seperate things into multiple variables to track down errors, and forget to put it back to how I had it after it works. I tend to use variables like 'strTest' when I'm trying to figure something out, then forget to change it to something meaningful later. If you feel like pointing out some bad mistakes go ahead.. either PM me or let loose on here, I'm a big boy you wont hurt my feelings ;). Anyways, thanks for the feedback.

Great share though!

Some members should realize that not everyone on the internet is a 14 year old trying to find a way to build his self esteem by fucking other people over. Not everyone on here is malicious. Not to mention, he released the source. Anyone who doesn't trust it can just compile it for themselves and not have to feel some type of way about it.

That being said, you did an AMAZING job here KoBe. I hope that HFC can meet the standard you set with this one :) Thanks for sharing this and keep up the good work.

I am neither mad at you, nor was I implying that you said that. It looks like you read a bit too deep into what I was saying. I was merely speaking about the same members you were. Notice my response started with some members... No reason to get salty. Was not directed at you in anyway. Was moreso directed at the retards who think that KoBe might be out to steal their HF account or backdoor their comps.

As previously stated... not everyone is blackhat/malicious. Only the kids who have something to prove and are seeking some internet clout (a la all the kids posting in these stupid FUD/Crypter/Binder/Booter threads). Some of us are just trying to provide the community with quality source/software.

I apologize for the misunderstanding. Calm down.

That is happening because he made a parsing mistake somewhere in his code (as you can see from the screen shot where it says 'Logged in as' and then has a whole bunch of random data from the returned Html). Click the details button and paste the information here so he can debug and fix. :)

JIT Debugging

To enable just-in-time (JIT) debugging, the .config file for this application or computer (machine.config) must have the jitDebugging value set in the system.windows.forms section. The application must also be compiled with debugging enabled.

For example:

<configuration>
  <system.windows.forms jitDebugging="true" />
</configuration>

When JIT debugging is enabled, any unhandled exception will be sent to the JIT debugger registered on the computer rather than be handled by this dialog box.

Not at all. I'm smart enough to know that I don't know everything. I do know a little bit about quite a lot though. Anyhow, I'm sorry you feel that way. I'll see what I can do to change the fact that I am knowledgeable in the field of programming. Also if it makes any difference, I'm 27 years old. Perhaps the fact that I've been programming for longer than a large portion of HF's member base has been alive might have something to do with your assessment of who I am outside of posting on a forum.

Fair enough. When you get a little bit older you'll learn how to appreciate concise answers. Happy trolling.

Very nice buddy :)

I don't like it where things are placed and the GUI maybe use a public one like aeonhacks theme or maybe a custom one.

ASYNC DOWNLOADERS MOTHERFUCKER, DO YOU USE THEM?

Well, I like my programs MULTITHREADED. But most of the nubs in this forum don't even know that all their download stuff stops the execution of WndProc

Sorry everyone but I made this 4 months ago and don't care to comment on this. Thanks to whoever gravedug it up. For those that care my coding has greatly increase since I've made this. I have developed a multithreaded class to handle downloading PMs so if anyone is interested in it, you can PM me for the source.

To everyone hating, kiss my ass. I would neg rep you for being a fuck tard but I don't care about you enough to take the time.
