Thread: How are greyhat methods treated here?

Mascherano - November 16, 2016, 3:24 pm
Just a question because I have an amazing one with a potential to make a heap of money based on profits and losses(you lose and gain)
I'd also like to know the most trusted members if possible to do vouchies :3 (greyhat volunteers)

Depends on the method. Just make sure it doesn't cross any rules, and you'll be good.
We recommend you take the time to read the HF Help Documents section. The answer to your questions should be contained in there.

I'll try it out the weekend if you give me a vouch and it's straight forward

Feel free to drop me a PM if you deem me trusted enough.

Just have a read through the help documents, especially the disallowed blackhat activity. If its not listed there as being disallowed then you should be all good.

i thought that greyhat was illegal things done for a good reason?
such as infecting a pedophile with a RAT (or aids), or taking down a carding website, etc

This is basically "ethical hacking" which is legal (not all your examples but you get the idea), therefore whitehat hacker.

yeah, the person is whitehat, but their methods are illegal (and thoerfore mostly blackhat) - so it meets in the middle as greyhat

This. Greyhat is when you're doing something good that would be seen as unethical, or bad (but not actually illegal)- or its when you're doing something bad that most would see as good.

if their method is illegal, then it's blackhat, no?
