That's really dope, i love the style. I wish i could create something like that.

Keep it up Novica

Not much can really be said that hasn't already. This piece is very well done and I think it's pretty much perfect. I suppose a variation for background colors also wouldn't hurt if it's a wallpaper. Nice work on this one I'm really liking it.

Love the style, going to head in that direction.

AvessoVision - December 11, 2016, 3:40 am
I see you left it just like that in the end, a few lightning improvements as I can see.
Overall I've said it's a clean work and would like to see more of it.

Cheers

i don't know why you put lips on a skeleton the Hair Headband looks like it doesn't wrap the hair .
well , not bad ?

Top of the head is out of the mirror frame, that's the given perspective and connects with the headband.

Why put hair on a skeleton? Because with art you can do pretty much anything.

Cheers.

Yeah, cold color(s) might look better, will definitely try them out. :3

i knew you're a novica fanboy but i'm talking about this part.

looks like it doesn't wrap the hair..

over all it's a clean design .

Doesnt matter if I am a fanboy of Novica or not.

That feedback was still absolute retarded. You questioned why there are lips on a skeleton. You sir, got a fuck ton of art to question. You better get started.

when i'm criticized , i should be able to handle it either the criticism is right or wrong .
and we're actually rating novica's works here, not mine ..
i have tons of threads on this section ..
you can post your criticisms there and i'll be happy to read it one by one.. ?

I appreciate a good feedback/constructive criticism, but what you're saying doesn't make much sense to me.

First of all take a look at the shape of the hair, it obviously narrows around the headbands. Also, I don't know if you can see them or not, but there are shades and highlights.

Headbands on the other hand could of been done much better, but that's another story.

thanks for the clarification ..
have a nice day ?

and since you added me on your ignore list , i added you as well ?

More like Malice in Wonderland :ROFLMAO:

I like it tho, very clean. If you dropped out the background this would make a pretty cool Avatar.
Only thing i would ad is maybe a design on the shirt to eat up some of the negative space. Something simple and easy on the eyes so it doesnt take away from the overall image.

Such an inspirint piece of work, I really like alice and I defenitely like your version of it. I wouldn't change anything, really really good job mate. Keep up posting, would like to see more work from you as it's like I said very inspiring. :)

Ah yes! AvessoVision suggested the same thing. I might add something, just not sure what. :3

It's a really decent concept, but I'm just SO confused about the lighting. Where is it coming from?
Shadows are so confusing, and I think you should work on her body shadow if you want it to look like she's coming out of the mirror!

Shadows are not confusing. Imagine being in front of a mirror with a light right above it. Would the light not come down on your head and slowly go on your face and the visible part of your chest and shoulders? Even the mirror's frame implies that the light is coming from above and from nowhere else. The only shadows that might be misleading are the ones behind her shoulders and at the hairband.
A bit lowered at the shoulders and a lot thinner at the hairband.

Cheers.

You're right, most parts on the canvas indicate that the light is coming from the top, however certain other parts indicate that the might is probably coming from a lower position, either right in front of the skeleton or on the lower sides.

These 3 light sources that I've drawn are the ones that kinda ruin the piece for me. Other than that, it goes without saying that's a really nice try.

Yeah, you are right, I just noticed that recently.
Shading could have been done much better.
I'll probably work on that in next few days.

Thank you. :)
