I may be offering lifetime packages, but with the way this exploit and tool works, having it as a monthly service while providing continuing updates works better and actually leads to an increase in product life.  Message me on skype and we could discuss

You can try ;)

Also, I can refer you all to some cheap traffic (100k visits for $5) so you can start getting thousands of subscribers at the start.

Are these visits "real" or botted?

I mean most services are just like hitleap / 100% faked

Yes - this does not work for mobile viewers at the moment. We will be entering beta testing for mobile jacking (and other features like bell notification jacking) soon.

With that said, the best traffic for YouTube is usually on desktop as far as CPM :)

Considering all previous methods of youtube click jacking was patched, this is definitely a 0-day, and a huge one at that. The value for a tool like this is huge.

Buying views has long been dead as far as boosting rankings, getting real views and subscribers is the only way to go

Buying views, likes and comments does indeed boost your ratings.

Could you please tell me what "notification" jacking is?

(Jun 19, 2017 11:38 AM)Reporter Wrote: [CITE] Source on this?

Buying views, likes and comments does indeed boost your ratings.

Could you please tell me what "notification" jacking is?

Firstly views, likes and comments from a like for like service or botting service are low quality, non targeted and low engagement. They usually watch your video for 2 seconds which NEGATIVELY effects your videos. We have worked with hundreds of Youtube channels with a total millions of subscribers. Low quality views and subscriptions hurt your channel. You can only use small numbers of these types of users on your channel.

Using a subscription jacker not only gains you real subscribers but also gives your videos good coverage for relevant traffic who will actually watch your videos, and gain you natural views and engagement! As a result you can work to collect as many of these types of subscribers as possible using the Youtube Click Jacker.

Notifications is the extra step when subscribing to see that subscribers videos first and receive and notification for it. We are always working to improve the software with new features, and this is one that we hope to implement in the future.

My mini review:

Works perfect and as advertised, the seller is awesome and is online pretty much all day to answer questions, sets up the whole backend etc. Takes about 30 minutes from purchase to get started, the only complaint I have (not the fault of the seller) but you do need traffic, not everyone will have a YouTube account and fake traffic does NOT work for this (a bot etc will not have a YouTube account) - If you can find a cheap source for good reliable traffic then you can literally get tens of thousands of subs.

Suggestion would be to use something like AdWords or buy a website with thousands of views. You can target specific traffic sources to exactly the audience you want.

You're sales thrashing by randomly posting a link to the description of what a click jacker does. Without an actual exploit, you're not going to be able to make a YouTube click jacker.

This is monthly? or $40 lifetime for 1 channel lifetime?

How does this work? Is it software or web based?

Huge Toad - June 20, 2017, 4:27 pm
@White Fox, will look into it and contact the OP. I don't have enough posts yet to PM you myself so untill then, you'll have to wait for OP to be online.

@Johnny Vuitton, yes it works extremely well. You can easily test the click jacker with your own accounts to see that it works! If you want to go the extra mile, place the click jacker on a website that is already attracting people is going to have the very highest results!

@BoliBerrys, this is a monthly license. Useless botted subscriptions are available at crazy prices (5$/100), meanwhile using a click jacker you get high quality subscribers that are targeted and engage in your videos because they're real users.

@AmericanExpress, you purchase a license and add a line of code to your website. One example then would be users that visit that website are presented with a modal box to sign up for a newsletter and when they either click the x or press accept will also be subscribed to your youtube channel without knowing they ever did!
