

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Free Filehosts THAT DON'T BULLY & ARTIFICIALLY RESTRICT USERS

The CROW - July 22, 2009, 11:15 pm

[/b][b]Why use rapidsh8t, megaupchuck, piledeposit, or any other sites that use harassment tactics and imaginary restrictions to try to bully people into buying their paid services, WHEN THERE ARE SO MANY FREE FILE HOSTS THAT DON'T HARASS either uploaders OR downloaders?

I have a list here of some free file hosts that don't engage in such reprehensible tactics. If everyone would start using sites that don't harass or impose artificial restrictions on people, the sites that do engage in such bullying would be forced to change their ways to survive.

This list was last checked and updated on 5-3-09.

My personal favorite in this list is Mediafire, it's the one I've had the most experience with.

<http://www.filehosting.org/>

<http://www.hyperfileshare.com/index.php>

<http://ifile.it/>

<http://www.fileupload.be/>

<http://www.mydrive.ch/en>

<http://www.zupload.com/>

<http://www.savefiles.net/>

<http://www.youshare.com/>

<http://www.mybloop.com/>

<http://www.driveway.com/>

<http://www.freeuploadshare.com/>

<http://www.mediafire.com/>

<http://host-a.net/>

<http://files.x7web.com/>

File Hosting & Storage Site Reviews

<http://www.filehostingreview.com/>

Free file hosts comparisons

<http://www.free-webhosts.com/free-file-hosting.php>

What Rights - July 22, 2009, 11:17 pm

Great idea, I would use these for on the fly stuff. # normally means that you can trust it, being that it costs money to have it up their.

wiseman - August 9, 2009, 10:47 pm

Great post guys!?

GuitarMan - August 10, 2009, 9:25 am

Add plunder to the list, I've used that a couple of times.