Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Do u confirmed blockchain transactions expire?

swavy - December 19, 2017, 6:15 am
i have a $900 transaction that’s absolutely fucked.

I sent it on the 7th, now it’s the 19th.

Is this going to expire?

edit: didn’t realize what section I was in my bad.

SlyTaco - December 19, 2017, 6:24 am
It doesn't expire, but it can take a while. Let's see the blockchain tx.

swavy - December 19, 2017, 6:28 am
(Dec 19, 2017 07:24 AM)SlyTaco Wrote: [CITE] It doesn't expire, but it can take a while. Let's see the blockchain tx.

https://blockchain.info/tx/254fa07673c0f86ca7939b68accf3216d9ca220361c2848809eadf7e170c74a0

Used electrum to boost the fee but that transaction is frozen aswell.

I meant to do 500sat...

MicroCode™ - December 19, 2017, 7:15 am
Confirms may get very slow if there are many "Inputs" also, like in your transaction.

swavy - December 19, 2017, 7:30 am
(Dec 19, 2017 08:15 AM)MicroCode Wrote: [CITE] Confirms may get very slow if there are many "Inputs" also, like in your transaction.
Mine s 2.2k bytes at 50sat it will never confirm or take months.

Zexi - December 19, 2017, 7:49 am
Try double spending? That could push the main transaction and drop the one with the low ass fee.

saik0 - December 19, 2017, 7:55 am
it will drop from mempool after 14 days