Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Working at a nightclub.

VitalityHD - October 12, 2018, 5:53 am
It's SO fucking confusing, but I'm getting good at it now.

Has anyone ever worked at one before? If your boss asks you to sell tickets, is that hard to do with small friend groups? Is there like some easy way to do so?

Business - October 12, 2018, 5:59 am
I've never done it, but I'd be interested to hear more about it. What exactly does you job entail?

VitalityHD - October 12, 2018, 6:53 am
(Oct 12, 2018 05:59 AM)?usiness Wrote: [CITE] I've never done it, but I'd be interested to hear more about it. What exactly does you job entail?
Working at the bar, but everything there is SO old-fashioned, it's so fucking painful, honestly.

Business - October 12, 2018, 6:57 am
(Oct 12, 2018 06:53 AM)VitalityHD Wrote: [CITE] Working at the bar, but everything there is SO old-fashioned, it's so fucking painful, honestly.Old-fashioned how? Any examples come to mind?

b?xxy - October 12, 2018, 7:01 am
(Oct 12, 2018 06:53 AM)VitalityHD Wrote: [CITE] Working at the bar, but everything there is SO old-fashioned, it's so fucking painful, honestly.
It's probably family owned I'm assuming.
Doing things the old-fashioned way saves a lot of money for business, but nowadays makes things seem sketchy.

emotionull - October 12, 2018, 7:03 am
Yeah lower end companies will do things "old fashioned" or in a cheap fashion to save money. So are you just working the bar? Why do you sell tickets?

Rajj - October 12, 2018, 7:05 am
I haven't worked at one, but I had a close friend who worked as a bouncer at one a while back. He had some interesting stories to tell from his time there. Fucked alot of the dancers too, according to him at least. Let us know how it goes