Thread: Keylogger always detected

Copper - February 24, 2011, 6:49 pm

So i have a java driveby set up for getting the unspoken accounts, and I always have people tell me their antivirus got it. Is there a way to make a keylogger undetectable

You can crypt your files to make them less detectable.

Is there any good free crypters? And do they actually help that much

Yes they do help. You can use the search function on HF to look for some. I've never had to use a crypter so I cannot recommend a good one.

i recomend if you rly want to start hacking pay for a good crypter say stealth or lucifer :)

Well I do have a crypter that's RT + ST. I don't know the detection rate, but it was last 3/16.
