Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: I"ve been doing incentives on Crakrevenue will i get paid?

mendo X - July 23, 2019, 8:53 pm
I"ve been doing incentives on Crakrevenue will i get paid? I did incentives on reddit/twitter/youtube. I kinda cloacked it and delted my post. I did not abuse it much. I got like 80 conversions about of like 6k clicks. You think i will get paid? thanks lmk

Also when do they pay out? thanks lmk

Net - July 24, 2019, 12:22 am
Check out their payout page. All the info should be there.

Frankey - July 24, 2019, 9:58 am
Depends if your traffic quality is decent then yes, most likely no though.

Stephanie Ferguson - July 25, 2019, 11:43 am
You are stupid. Incentive traffic will lead to high chargeback rate, resulting in your aff id either getting blacklisted from the offer, or straight up reversal of leads.

mendo X - July 25, 2019, 12:18 pm
(Jul 25, 2019 11:43 AM)Stephanie Ferguson Wrote: [CITE] You are stupid. Incentive traffic will lead to high chargeback rate, resulting in your aff id either getting blacklisted from the offer, or straight up reversal of leads.
They are email submits... Not buying anything so how will there be chargebacks?

Frankey - July 25, 2019, 1:20 pm
(Jul 25, 2019 12:18 PM)mendo X Wrote: [CITE] They are email submits... Not buying anything so how will there be chargebacks?
Hahha.
You do understand that if 0% of your traffic spends money on the offers, you'll most likely will get kicked off the offer or not paid at all right?

mendo X - July 25, 2019, 2:14 pm
(Jul 25, 2019 01:20 PM)Frankey Wrote: [CITE] Hahha.
You do understand that if 0% of your traffic spends money on the offers, you'll most likely will get kicked off the offer or not paid at all right?
well then the offers are the ones lying then.. because it says "email submits" not "email submits and must get sale" ... Does any big company pay you for sales nope. Hell they only offer ot show the ad.

Stephanie Ferguson - July 25, 2019, 3:15 pm
(Jul 25, 2019 02:14 PM)mendo X Wrote: [CITE] well then the offers are the ones lying then.. because it says "email submits" not "email submits and must get sale" ... Does any big company pay you for sales nope. Hell they only offer ot show the ad.
there is something called a key performance indicator that you NEED to hit. In this case the KPI is a sale, but you're being paid on an email submit. You should really dig deeper into affiliate marketing and understand how it works. The majority of publishers are so braindead they don't even realize sending bad traffic will do them more harm in the long run. The advertiser will either scrub your aff id until he makes a return back on his spend, or in some rare cases just not pay.

OGAds - July 25, 2019, 5:25 pm
You might get lucky and get paid but I do not think they will pay out. good luck

Frankey - July 25, 2019, 11:42 pm
(Jul 25, 2019 03:15 PM)Stephanie Ferguson Wrote: [CITE] there is something called a key performance indicator that you NEED to hit. In this case the KPI is a sale, but you're being paid on an email submit. You should really dig deeper into affiliate marketing and understand how it works. The majority of publishers are so braindead they don't even realize sending bad traffic will do them more harm in the long run. The advertiser will either scrub your aff id until he makes a return back on his spend, or in some rare cases just not pay.
Well said!

He is completely right, however with dating offers the advertiser just doesn't pay 99% of the time. This is because there are loads of LQ 'braindead' publishers like OP promoting adult.

If this were a sweeps offer he would indeed just get scrubbed or kicked of the offer, but he would still get paid.

Dating he won't most of the time, it just happens to often.

Uiqueblhats - July 26, 2019, 12:50 am
(Jul 25, 2019 02:14 PM)mendo X Wrote: [CITE] well then the offers are the ones lying then.. because it says "email submits" not "email submits and must get sale" ... Does any big company pay you for sales nope. Hell they only offer ot show the ad.
You do realise that advertiser will not pay you if he doesn't make profit from your traffic or break even.

mendo X - July 26, 2019, 1:47 am
(Jul 25, 2019 11:42 PM)Frankey Wrote: [CITE] Well said!

He is completely right, however with dating offers the advertiser just doesn't pay 99% of the time. This is because there are loads of LQ 'braindead' publishers like OP promoting adult.

If this were a sweeps offer he would indeed just get scrubbed or kicked of the offer, but he would still get paid.

Dating he won't most of the time, it just happens to often.
(Jul 26, 2019 12:50 AM)Uiqueblhats Wrote: [CITE] You do realise that advertiser will not pay you if he doesn't make profit from your traffic or break even.
Yea pretty stupid though because guess what . If they want 100% legit traffic why not go straight to someone else like twitter or facebook and buy ads? Because they know there site is shit and wont make sales. So they get free advertising by banning people all day if they dont make "profit' . Hell i wish i could invest in something and just ban people if i dont make profit.. dont work that way though doesi t..

CPA Exposé - July 26, 2019, 7:14 am
(Jul 26, 2019 01:47 AM)mendo X Wrote: [CITE] Yea pretty stupid though because guess what . If they want 100% legit traffic why not go straight to someone else like twitter or facebook and buy ads? Because they know there site is shit and wont make sales. So they get free advertising by banning people all day if they dont make "profit' . Hell i wish i could invest in something and just ban people if i dont make profit.. dont work that way though doesi t..
Just because they allow 3rd parties to marketing their product doesn't mean they have to allow low quality leads.

A lot of these people are also doing their own ads, but having an entire network of people also running ads for you and getting you leads has its advantages.

They get a ton of data off this.

hartzlead - July 27, 2019, 9:01 am

Networks will only payout if your traffic quality is good and that does not only mean clean referrers etc, this also mean are the leads backing out for the advertiser. If your advertiser is not making any money off your leads as they go through the funnel why on earth would they pay you. Just food for thought.

mendo X - July 27, 2019, 9:05 am

(Jul 27, 2019 09:01 AM)hartzlead Wrote: [CITE] Networks will only payout if your traffic quality is good and that does not only mean clean referrers etc, this also mean are the leads backing out for the advertiser. If your advertiser is not making any money off your leads as they go through the funnel why on earth would they pay you. Just food for thought.

Because thats business. I think tis sketchy that cpa networks post on bhw and hackforums and only want 100% clean . WHy go to the worse places for clean converts where people try to hack or cheat things? And i also think why dont the advertisers go and buy there own ads? Whats the middleman for?

hartzlead - July 27, 2019, 9:29 am

(Jul 27, 2019 09:05 AM)mendo X Wrote: [CITE] Because thats business. I think tis sketchy that cpa networks post on bhw and hackforums and only want 100% clean . WHy go to the worse places for clean converts where people try to hack or cheat things? And i also think why dont the advertisers go and buy there own ads? Whats the middleman for?

It might seem sketchy when you see the posts in forums like these from Networks yes. However most often its not the network but the Affiliate Mgr that's making those threads. The Network most often have no clue where the Affiliate Mgr is drumming up business. Advertisers find it far more efficient if they let us take on all the risks for traffic spends and lead acquisition. Remember most often they are only paying us IF the lead is proven valid or backs out in some fashion. So its us the middlemen that take on all the risks.

mendo X - July 27, 2019, 9:33 am

(Jul 27, 2019 09:29 AM)hartzlead Wrote: [CITE] It might seem sketchy when you see the posts in forums like these from Networks yes. However most often its not the network but the Affiliate Mgr that's making those threads. The Network most often have no clue where the Affiliate Mgr is drumming up business. Advertisers find it far more efficient if they let us take on all the risks for traffic spends and lead acquisition. Remember most often they are only paying us IF the lead is proven valid or backs out in some fashion. So its us the middlemen that take on all the risks.

yea i guess the only option is to stop bitching and go direct to an advertiser. How do i find the direct advertiser of these things though?

hartzlead - July 27, 2019, 9:44 am

(Jul 27, 2019 09:33 AM)mendo X Wrote: [CITE] yea i guess the only option is to stop bitching and go direct to an advertiser. How do i find the direct advertiser of these things though?

It all depends. Almost all offers you see in networks can be traced back to the actual advertiser but it does take some skill and time to do this.

You could also simply figure out your niche/topic and literally go searching all over google to find the actual companies etc and approach them directly. The problem with these methods though is that most companies are not going to waste time talking to us unless we can prove we are serious and can push volumes of traffic. After all that's why they are using the networks in the first place.

Where you would have the best odds if you are serious about driving leads is to focus on Pay Per Call where you setup your own infrastructure to drive real time phone leads directly to a company.

mendo X - July 27, 2019, 10:02 am

(Jul 27, 2019 09:44 AM)hartzlead Wrote: [CITE] It all depends. Almost all offers you see in networks can be traced back to the actual advertiser but it does take some skill and time to do this.
You could also simply figure out your niche/topic and literally go searching all over google to find the actual companies etc and approach them directly. The problem with these methods though is that most companies are not going to waste time talking to us unless we can prove we are serious and can push volumes of traffic. After all that's why they are using the networks in the first place.

Where you would have the best odds if you are serious about driving leads is to focus on Pay Per Call where you setup your own infrastructure to drive real time phone leads directly to a company.
Who you think owns this offer/ad?

hartzlead - July 27, 2019, 2:21 pm

Cant simply look that offer and see where its going to. However you can use tools like this Spyoffers Redirect Tracking Tool - Affiliate Link Redirect Tracker Tool, Affiliate Link Trace Tool, Redirect Track Tool (there are far better ones but you would need to go research) track the redirects back to the last hop and then continue researching if that final hop leads to a network.

The issue is as you know 90% of the offers you find on networks are simply re-brokered offers from other networks. There are times when you research your affiliate link you might literally see 3-4 hops before reaching the final offer.

Another thing if you are serious about driving traffic as an affiliate I would highly suggest you don't focus on email submits. I know they seem simple BUT they are usually a waste of time because of the low payout and low scalability. It takes the same effort to promote a $50-$200 PPC offer as it does to promote a email submit offer assuming you are not screwing around with low end incentive offers. Yes you will have to pay more for your traffic but the returns are way higher and conversions can easily be in the 30-60% range.