Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Safe or "safe"

de_g3ntl3m4n - January 9, 2020, 9:01 am
Hey whats up howdy hi hoo

So i do not know, just had a little laugh, i had heard that android has been updating their systems on the phone and some people think that android isn't too safe.

Do you think andriod is up to no good? Do you belive apples safer? At the same time while we are on the topic, what do you guys think about APPLes new IOS update. Feel like they've really improved, at the same time feel like some competion is coming up slowly hehehee

But yeah just random thoughts whatcha say?

Trip - January 9, 2020, 9:07 am
I do prefer on iOS that I have a choice to use only location services while using the app and not always on.

de_g3ntl3m4n - January 9, 2020, 9:16 am
(Jan 9, 2020 10:05 AM)Stephen Wrote: [CITE] I would say Apple is more secure all round.
Even though they had that little security flaw that was remained silent for a couple of years? until it was told to public?

(Jan 9, 2020 10:07 AM)Trip Wrote: [CITE] I do prefer on iOS that I have a choice to use only location services while using the app and not always on.
i mean that is kinda fair, you like the new ios13 or whatever its on?

Trip - January 9, 2020, 10:01 am
(Jan 9, 2020 10:16 AM)crispysandwhich Wrote: [CITE] Even though they had that little security flaw that was remained silent for a couple of years? until it was told to public?

i mean that is kinda fair, you like the new ios13 or whatever its on?
There hasn’t been a huge change in years. I prefer ios because of their software and their hardware. No matter the iPhone you can take it to AppleCare and they can change parts out if they break. My battery goes bad in two years no problem pay 60 bucks and walk out. Their devices are updated very regularly while other competition you can pay thousand dollars and get year and half of updates so...

Aeowulf - January 9, 2020, 1:56 pm
Don't trust either one of them, so.... no. Not at all.

SyrupSplashin - January 9, 2020, 2:14 pm
iOS is locked down and more secure. Android is quite open and as a product of that, less secure.

Smexy - January 9, 2020, 2:16 pm
Nothing "smart" is safe, no iphone no smartphone or tv.

Francis Gallagher - January 9, 2020, 4:11 pm

(Jan 9, 2020 11:01 AM)Trip Wrote: [CITE] There hasn't been a huge change in years. I prefer ios because of their software and their hardware. No matter the iPhone you can take it to AppleCare and they can change parts out if they break. My battery goes bad in two years no problem pay 60 bucks and walk out. Their devices are updated very regularly while other competition you can pay thousand dollars and get year and half of updates so...

I'd like to point out, that most of the parts in an Apple phone/device now days are made by Samsung. So nothing is really "exclusive" anymore.

Trip - January 9, 2020, 4:33 pm

(Jan 9, 2020 05:11 PM)Francis Gallagher Wrote: [CITE] I'd like to point out, that most of the parts in an Apple phone/device now days are made by Samsung. So nothing is really "exclusive" anymore.

Yeah, I just really like iOS compared to android. It just seems to run smoother and the animations are fast.

Francis Gallagher - January 9, 2020, 6:40 pm

(Jan 9, 2020 05:33 PM)Trip Wrote: [CITE] Yeah, I just really like iOS compared to android. It just seems to run smoother and the animations are fast.Oh hands down. It's a lot more smooth than Android 100%.

Aeowulf - January 9, 2020, 7:13 pm

(Jan 9, 2020 05:11 PM)Francis Gallagher Wrote: [CITE] I'd like to point out, that most of the parts in an Apple phone/device now days are made by Samsung. So nothing is really "exclusive" anymore.

Are you frikkin serious!?

I didn't know that. So in essence, its a monopoly? ?

Francis Gallagher - January 9, 2020, 8:31 pm

(Jan 9, 2020 08:13 PM)Aeowulf Wrote: [CITE] Are you frikkin serious!?

I didn't know that. So in essence, its a monopoly? ?

100% bro. It's insane, I forget what % it is. But at least like 30% I want to say?

SIM-3257834 - January 9, 2020, 8:42 pm

(Jan 9, 2020 03:14 PM)SyrupSplashin Wrote: [CITE] iOS is locked down and more secure. Android is quite open and as a product of that, less secure.

So you're saying linux is insecure because its opensource?

(Jan 9, 2020 10:07 AM)Trip Wrote: [CITE] I do prefer on iOS that I have a choice to use only location services while using the app and not always on.

Android 10 does this now, it'll ask if you want location to be on all the time or only when the app is opened.

SyrupSplashin - January 9, 2020, 9:32 pm

(Jan 9, 2020 09:42 PM)Cake Wrote: [CITE] So you're saying linux is insecure because its opensource?

Android 10 does this now, it'll ask if you want location to be on all the time or only when the app is opened.

iOS is a different ballgame. Apple controls damn near everything that goes in and out of a stock iPhone. You're not doing much to modify it without a jailbreak. It's inconvenient for tinkerers as well as malicious individuals. It's much easier to attack an android than it is an iPhone. That's not to say it's impossible, but it's the harder of the two. Combine the easier choice with the fact it's much more prevalent globally and you have a more targetted and less secure phone.

It's not as though I'm pro apple though. I'll take a lesser secure phone for the ability to mess with it more. I've only ever owned androids, fuck apple

Nate - January 10, 2020, 1:01 am
I have nothing to hide, and its easy to get your money back on fruadulent transactions from Banks, and Credit Card Companies.

de_g3ntl3m4n - January 10, 2020, 10:53 am
(Jan 9, 2020 05:11 PM)Francis Gallagher Wrote: [CITE] I'd like to point out, that most of the parts in an Apple phone/device now days are made by Samsung. So nothing is really "exclusive" anymore.
Iam dead and then you see apple making more profit. Got to love overpricing

(Jan 9, 2020 08:13 PM)Aeowulf Wrote: [CITE] Are you frikkin serious!?

I didn't know that. So in essence, its a monopoly? ?
Thats how i am feeling, lifes a lie HAHAHAHHAHA , didnt see that coming. lowkey bout to go to some chinese market buy my own phone parts smh

Clock - January 10, 2020, 10:55 am
(Jan 9, 2020 05:33 PM)Trip Wrote: [CITE] Yeah, I just really like iOS compared to android. It just seems to run smoother and the animations are fast.
I will say that really depends on the hardware quite a bit. I have a phone that runs Android no issue and looks great however I also have an older tablet that's a little bit laggy. It's pretty much dependent on the hardware.

de_g3ntl3m4n - January 10, 2020, 10:57 am
(Jan 9, 2020 10:32 PM)SyrupSplashin Wrote: [CITE] iOS is a different ballgame. Apple controls damn near everything that goes in and out of a stock iPhone. You're not doing much to modify it without a jailbreak. It's inconvenient for tinkerers as well as malicious individuals. It's much easier to attack an android than it is an iPhone. That's not to say it's impossible, but it's the harder of the two. Combine the easier choice with the fact it's much more prevalent globally and you have a more targetted and less secure phone.

It's not as though I'm pro apple though. I'll take a lesser secure phone for the ability to mess with it more. I've only ever owned androids, fugg apple in the end soon anything will be possible. but i feel you apple can create a nice chill design but i do feel like their are more features and more things andriod has to offer but just got be secure

Francis Gallagher - January 10, 2020, 11:18 am
(Jan 10, 2020 11:53 AM)de_g3ntl3m4n Wrote: [CITE] Iam dead and then you see apple making more profit. Got to love overpricing

Thats how i am feeling, lifes a lie HAHAHAHHAHA , didnt see that coming. lowkey bout to go to some chinese market buy my own phone parts smh
Bro it's all marketing tactics to keep you divided and spending money. Free publicity through comparison shit. People talking shit on social media etc. It's all them greedy assholes man. Life is all a lie to keep us oppressed and following the trends.

de_g3ntl3m4n - January 10, 2020, 11:24 am

(Jan 10, 2020 12:18 PM)Francis Gallagher Wrote: [CITE] Bro it's all marketing tactics to keep you divided and spending money. Free publicity through comparison Clay Davis. People talking Clay Davis on social media etc. It's all them greedy assholes man. Life is all a lie to keep us oppressed and following the trends.

got to love it, you think things will change, or just life history, its gonna keep repeating itself?

Francis Gallagher - January 10, 2020, 11:26 am

(Jan 10, 2020 12:24 PM)de_g3ntl3m4n Wrote: [CITE] got to love it, you think things will change, or just life history, its gonna keep repeating itself?

We keep failing to learn from the past. So it will inevitably keep repeating itself. Unless the majority stop TALKING about it and start BEING about it. We will stay here, being held back, complaining like it will change something.

Trip - January 10, 2020, 11:53 am

(Jan 9, 2020 09:42 PM)Cake Wrote: [CITE] So you're saying linux is insecure because its opensource?

Android 10 does this now, it'll ask if you want location to be on all the time or only when the app is opened.

Never knew that it’s been a while since I had an Android. I have the s7 edge and it was lackluster after the first year. The battery went to shit and the forced apps like Facebook made me rage.

SIM-3257834 - January 10, 2020, 11:54 am

(Jan 10, 2020 12:53 PM)Trip Wrote: [CITE] Never knew that it’s been a while since I had an Android. I have the s7 edge and it was lackluster after the first year. The battery went to Clay Davis and the forced apps like Facebook made me rage.

You can disable apps like Facebook. I've even gone as far as to disable Google search entirely or "okay Google " services.

Trip - January 10, 2020, 11:56 am

(Jan 10, 2020 12:54 PM)Cake Wrote: [CITE] You can disable apps like Facebook. I've even gone as far as to disable Google search entirely or "okay Google " services.

Well, when I had my Android it was forced yeah you could “disable” but you couldn’t remove it.

SIM-4033767 - January 10, 2020, 1:25 pm

I am pretty sure apple is more safe ?