Thread: Over 2,500 GBP made on eBay in 14 days. 2k cleared cash.

Hey guys, just thought I'd have a little brag regarding the earnings I've made on eBay from April 10th - date.

You will see from the video below, that's just under £2,500 - £2,000+ cleared funds, only £400 held. The rest is in my bank.

Found the perfect niche with this lockdown I guess, am sat here watching movies and smoking all day listening to my phone repeatedly go chaaa-chinggg as it does with an eBay sale.

What have you guys accomplished during this lockdown?

I'm afraid if I told you my girlfriend would kill me hahahaha! Not masks though. Although that is something we trialled for a couple of days :)

How did the masks go? cause this was something i looked into briefly.

and how are you selling and not spending ur time packaging the products, drop shipping i assume?

Pretty dead tbh mate, hundreds of people listing them at all different price ranges so even if you did manage to get sales your profit would be minimal. I don't think we even had any views on our listing lol

Yeah, I figured as much, once I saw a guy sold a bunch here as soon as it hit i imagined the market would be saturated pretty quickly.

Yeah man.

Try and get into the mindset of what the youth of today are doing whilst stuck inside!*

You can't sell masks on eBay in Australia anymore unless you're verified. I managed to find 200 masks, kept 60 and the rest all sold in one day. Paid $33 a pack of 20 and sold them $17 a mask with free postage. Postage was around $8 per mask but most people bought 2-4. I think only 1 person bought 1 mask. One dude bought 39, was stoked with that. Tried buying a few pallets of hand sanitiser about 2 weeks before everyone was going crazy for it but they cancelled my order and tripled the price, that would have been a huge fucking payday. It was $10/L and cunts were paying upto $450/L the first days of the shortage
