

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: My ISP blocking certain sites\(?\)

Right Gf - March 14, 2011, 7:46 am

My ISP seems to block alot of sites, turned off antivirus/malwarebytes protection, everything and it still doesn't work. Not sure if this is my ISP, but it seems like it is... so how do I fix it without having to call my host?

King - March 14, 2011, 7:48 am

Are you having a problem accessing HF? If yes, it might not be a problem with ISP. Your IP or the whole country might be blocked.

Right Gf - March 14, 2011, 7:51 am

Not HF, but a lot of other forums I'm active on, this happened like 3 days ago.

Chris - March 14, 2011, 7:53 am

Are you currently on a VPN or proxy? Also what country are you from?

Right Gf - March 14, 2011, 7:54 am

Norway, and I'm not on any VPN/proxy

Chris - March 14, 2011, 7:57 am

Ah.. thats the only thing I can really think of..

Sorry.. :(

Right Gf - March 14, 2011, 8:04 am

Ight, thanks guys. I uninstalled Malwarebytes and some sites work, but there's still sites my ISP blocks =I

Didymos - March 14, 2011, 8:10 am

Not sure. I will look online to help you out.

`Unreal - March 14, 2011, 8:14 am

just call them up and tell them

Wind - March 14, 2011, 8:24 am

Navigate to C:\WINDOWS\system32\drivers\etc, open up the hosts file in notepad, and copy/paste the contents into this thread.

alfonzo1955 - March 14, 2011, 9:04 am

Could you please post a traceroute to hackforums?

Omniscient - March 14, 2011, 12:10 pm

Try Google DNS.

8.8.8.8

8.8.8.4

A lot of times the block from an isp is at the DNS level.

PiraX - March 14, 2011, 12:14 pm

HughesNet was censoring HackForums. I had to bitch at them over the phone for two hours to get them to unlock it.