Thread: [Change Your Server's Extension To Whatever You Want \[VIDEO TUT\]](#)

danbirk - March 15, 2011, 2:22 am

In this video i will learn you how to change your files extension into whatever you want.

Note:

I think that this will only work on PC's with Windows 7.

Not sure though.

[Video: <http://www.youtube.com/watch?v=q-ugXPeR5mY>]

Go to the thread underneath if you wanna learn howto change your servers icon.

<https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=1130755>

Video tutorial of that will come tomorrow!

H4Ni - March 15, 2011, 3:55 am

not working !! :(

it shows unknown file .. and I cant open it !

but thanks anyway :D

danbirk - March 15, 2011, 3:59 am

Then you do something wrong, will record it later :D

And upload vid :P

Peace dude xD xD

Spoiler (Click to View)message to short lol xD

H4Ni - March 15, 2011, 4:35 am

I tried it again but it dsnt work !!

I dnt know whats wrong

I made the same steps ... change the unicode to RLO .. then name it with .jpg extension (gpj.) but it shows a damaged jpg file !!

AnonSpirit - March 15, 2011, 4:45 am

hey can you pleas make a vid it didnt work for me

danbirk - March 15, 2011, 4:47 am

Vid will come later today ;)

Cant make on right now s;

amg64 - March 15, 2011, 4:55 am haha..awesome man,keep it uP:)

H4Ni - March 15, 2011, 7:36 am

hahahahaha WTFIn stupid method !!

I thought that it can change the main extension (.exe) !

anyway ...

for everyone who dnt know how to use this method ...

just check the option "Hide extensions for known file types" in folder options > view !

if you didnt check it ... it should look like this >>> ?gpj.revres.exe

danbirk - March 15, 2011, 8:30 am

I somewhat cant upload a gif file showing i do it s;

ilovedubstep - March 15, 2011, 8:40 am

lol bro it works but i think just in W7 in xp show me ERROR!:S

tanks

danbirk - March 15, 2011, 8:45 am

Im not sure, but many have told me that they get erros on other OS's than Win7, so i guess it only works for Win7.

H4Ni - March 15, 2011, 10:06 am

it works on xp ...

Quote:just check the option "Hide extensions for known file types" in folder options > view !

But it can be detected easily by the victim !

'Snorlax - April 8, 2011, 8:13 am

Works perfectly, good guide mate!

What all of you people did wrong, was that you have shown the extensions.

On Danbirk's, it's hidden, and you would have to make it hidden, or atleast know how to do it when it's shown.

x Simply 1337 x - April 8, 2011, 8:25 am

Awesome tutorial, I'm sure it will come handy one day.

Many thanks.

Updated with a video!

Much easier to understand and follow now!

+ i changed the whole layout and text.

Suma - May 28, 2011, 8:26 pm

This works for me but I only have win7 here at the moment. However isn't it supposed to be something like.

exe.cutive.jpg with RLO?

@ kobefan, as I said above, I am happy you could use it :)

Lol5916 - May 29, 2011, 6:43 am

How is this any different from naming your file x.jpg.exe?

danbirk - May 29, 2011, 6:47 am

(May 29, 2011 06:43 AM)Lol5916 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) How is this any different from naming your file x.jpg.exe?

It removes the ".exe" at the end.

No one is so dumb to download "menude.jpg.exe"

It doesn't remove the exe at the end, the exe wasn't there to begin with... (at least in your video)

It shows up as .exe, when you send the file.

Or when you see it in a folder.

IT doesn't show up as .exe on the desktop :)

Mag1c-Pot - May 30, 2011, 2:27 pm

So basically you didn't do shit lol. You just have extensions set to hidden and put a .jpg in the end. But if the victim has extensions set to visible it will look like .jpg.exe.

How revolutionary.

Suma - May 30, 2011, 2:41 pm

I have this working for me with the exe, scr and com all in the beginning and .jpg at the end.

ex.

exe.rciseNaked.jpg and com.pleteNUDE.jpg

catlover - May 30, 2011, 9:59 pm

good one dude.. i need this badly..

danbirk - May 31, 2011, 2:55 am

@Psycho Mantis™, I did shit, i removed the .exe and changed it into whatever I want, in some cases it might show up as .jpg.exe, but that's not very often, and everytime ive did this, my victim had downloaded it.

So Ive never had any probs with it.

@catlover, Im glad you like it m8 :)

@catlover, Im glad you like it m8 :)It's not "in some cases". It's all a matter of what settings the victim has. Let me teach you something, the reason why you were saying "it seems to work only on Windows 7" is because BY DEFAULT the Windows 7 settings are set to hide the files extensions. This is why your "method" works for most people there but not everyone because there are Windows 7 users like me who have the settings set to view extensions.

So like I said, you didn't do absolutely anything there. Writing .jpg backwards or the normal way will have the same effect. Try it yourself.

Not as far as i know.

Look at all the comments.

It seems to work, and when I sent the file over msn it doenst show as .exe :)

Kikarian - May 31, 2011, 2:50 pm

Also when doing this you can only upload to certain uploading site's because, (I name one) Mediafire's title name is:

Server.jpg.exe, which we don't want. ^^

But I think FileSavr doesn't show the name of the file so, one of the best places to upload is their.

It would be easier to bind wouldn't it though?

But thanks for the share...
Keep them coming.

It is indeed a good idea to bind it.

I uploaded a pack with cinema 4d on tpb, with it binded to the keygen.exe :)

I hided it as a .dll wich i saved in one of the maps :D

Got me a good amount of vics.
