Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [START HERE] Welcome to all new members! Read here before posting!

P??sonl?af - June 12, 2025, 8:58 am

Welcome to HackForums!
A great place for anyone curious about hacking as well as an awesome marketplace, community, and general forum!

Before you start your journey and begin posting, we kindly ask that you read the Help Docs and take note of the following tips to ensure a smooth experience.

Tips for Safe and Smooth Transactions on HackForums:Keep all deals and related communication on-site.

Always use the contract system. It's there for your protection.

Verify who you're dealing with.

Check their profile and look for any open disputes. Use caution when dealing with users who have little to no reputation and/or aren't upgraded.

Use a (free) Middleman Service when needed.

If you can't afford to take a loss, use a middleman! Sellers cannot refuse a middleman it's in your best interest.

Before Requesting Files or Methods:

If you're asking for an e-book, method, script, or anything else from a user's thread, check the date of the original post and whether the user is still active.
No point in asking for a money-making method from "Fred" if he hasn't been online in two years. You won't be seeing that e-whore pack anytime soon.

When Asking for Help:

Provide as much detail as possible. (within reason)
If your issue involves a blackhat method don't worry. This is HackForums after all. No one's going to judge you for wanting to crack your neighbor's WiFi to see pictures of his hot wife.

Posting New Threads:

Make sure you're in the right category.
Asking for an e-whore pack in the White Hat Hacking section isn't going to get you far.

Be Respectful:

Always treat other members with respect.
You're far more likely to get help if you ask your questions politely and clearly.

That wraps up a few quick tips to get you started.
Enjoy your stay and once again, welcome to HackForums!

Moooookie - June 12, 2025, 9:31 am
Great thread, with some very valuable information in it.

Taking the time to read this thread, and actually following and abiding by the things said in it, can make the difference in you purchasing a product or service.. and you walking away satisfied, rather then you attempting to purchase a product or service, and getting lured off-site, and losing your money! As once that money is gone, you're not getting it back!

Stay Safe!

BiNBo - June 12, 2025, 9:39 am
I like it but for some displays, the red is a bit hard to read/see against the background. You might consider swapping to a color that's a bit more visible for highlights.

P??sonl?af - June 12, 2025, 9:43 am
(Jun 12, 2025 09:39 AM)BiNBo Wrote: [CITE] I like it but for some displays, the red is a bit hard to read/see against the background. You might consider swapping to a color that's a bit more visible for highlights.
Shame, I really like the red color though! Thanks for the feedback though!