Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: Is Reddit the worst community?

Oh_Well - July 22, 2025, 1:40 am

Hey guys, is Reddit the most toxic place?

I mean, there might be tons of subreddits but most of the mods are toxic and have some kind of god syndrome.

I feel like everywhere I post I'm afraid that the post will get removed for any reason, even though I follow the guidelines of the subreddit.

Does anyone else got that feeling?

BaldCunt - July 22, 2025, 1:59 am

Depends on your perspective. I find it useful at times. People on forums are usually mean due to the consequences of none.

HerrWinston - July 22, 2025, 3:04 am

Well i wouldnt call em the worst community but its generally very toxic there, and the mod problem is still huge like you adressed it. Personally i dont post on Reddit anymore because most of my questions were answered around 9 years ago by a deleted user lol

Oh_Well - July 22, 2025, 3:59 am

(Jul 22, 2025 01:59 AM)BaldCunt Wrote: [CITE] Depends on your perspective. I find it useful at times. People on forums are usually mean due to the consequences of none.
Yeah, I feel like I'm mostly referring to the mods, I think they create a very restricted environment for no reason. I once created a really cool post in which I put a lot of work and a mod removed it and mentioned it as irrelevant. But it was clearly just irrelevant to him and no rules were broken.
What can u say

(Jul 22, 2025 03:04 AM)HerrWinston Wrote: [CITE] Well i wouldnt call em the worst community but its generally very toxic there, and the mod problem is still huge like you adressed it. Personally i dont post on Reddit anymore because most of my questions were answered around 9 years ago by a deleted user lol
Yeah.. And it's kinda funny if you think that most replies in big subreddits are from AI bots just to create traffic. If you argue instead of asking a question, I'll bet you get plenty of replies XD

Jamika - July 22, 2025, 5:23 am

Yes , alongside with Tumblr

Deany - July 22, 2025, 5:58 am

Yes , many of the mods like to gatekeep it's cringe

Truth - July 22, 2025, 7:13 am

Reddit is where dumb people act smart and 4chan is where smarter people act dumb

HerrWinston - July 22, 2025, 7:46 am

(Jul 22, 2025 07:13 AM)Truth Wrote: [CITE] Reddit is where dumb people act smart and 4chan is where smarter people act dumb yeah that describes it the best i would say, 4chan is just different lol plops - July 22, 2025, 8:42 am

Reddit is a shitshow. I get called a retard if I mention my own method of grilling something when the post is asking for it in r/grilling, for example. There is no tame place there.

So I just use it to troll post on large company subreddits, might as well help it burn. Gets me a good laugh when people can't figure out if its real or not.

Lot of answers and solutions though like someone mentioned above if you google it right.

Condoms - July 22, 2025, 8:53 am
I used to enjoy visiting Reddit. But then it just sort of got old.
I do have a 18 year old... Will be 19 in August, Reddit account that I use from time to time..
To shock people of the age and what not..

But it's just gotten old. It's useful when needed, but blah.

Eran - July 22, 2025, 1:01 pm
Sure it can be toxic. But just by lurking there I have found so many valuable resources that I could not find anywhere else, so I am grateful for that. Maybe I am staying on the right side of Reddit, since I haven't really encountered anything toxic to the level that is worth mentioning.

peeboa - July 22, 2025, 2:00 pm
It is. It will always be the shittiest place on the internet.

immeiron - July 22, 2025, 4:44 pm
very toxic, its mostly white people who will tell you gay shit should be your number 1 priority and that religion is evil and that no country should have border, crazy white people shit, stay away from reddit

kinnu543 - July 22, 2025, 7:12 pm
Yes the rules are very tough, people mostly using it for marketing purpose

Mech - July 22, 2025, 8:34 pm
Majority of reddit is toxic. I stay off reddit unless I'm trying to find the answer to a problem.

K4RM4 - August 17, 2025, 9:28 am
No you're not alone at all in feeling that way. Reddit (like pretty much every other platform) is full of edge lords and trolls. Honestly I basically just lurk and read on most apps anymore because of it.