Thread: How could i add new pages to one Form?

AProPowerRanger - August 4, 2009, 9:13 pm

Well i was wondering how i could add new pages to one form.

Like have the main screen, then tabs to click to go to other screens.

Also how could i make my toolbar at the top a smaller height. its pretty large right now. ive tried changing it in the properties. it won't decrease in size.

Use the Tab Control tool

Under "All windows forms" sections

Right click on the 4 way arrow to add more tabs

BETAhkr, nice to see someone offering more than text for once. hehe

Another one i use is panels. Place 1 button and 1 panel.

Add this code to your button.

(EDIT: select your panel and change visible to false, and the text to show panel)

if panel1.visible = true then panel1.visible = false
button1.text = "show panel"
elseif panel1.visible = false then panel1.visible = true
button1.text = "hide panel"

Works a treat for small applications ;p

Austen, He wanted more than 1 form technically on 1 form...

More pages even if you will on 1 form, You would be adding more than 1 form.

You could do that if you like, use a timer or command button so when they click on it

Code Form2.ShowAnd If you would like to hide you Form1 when your Form2 opens.
Code Form2.show

Me.Hide

i will remember these methods. Right now i am using the tab method. How do i make that tab direct to another page tho.

See in ur project it added the new tab pages. mine didn't. idk y tho.

It will make another tab, You click on the other tab and build your next project there.

If that is not working If you have team view and MSN, AIM, or Yahoo I can help you more & better with your project.
