Most anything from Hayao Miyazaki is great material ... spirited away is one of my favorites of all time, right up there with howls moving castle, Nausicaä of the Valley of the Wind, Kiki's delivery service, and Princess Mononoke. Just to list a few ^_^ haha

ViciouS - August 6, 2009, 11:03 am yeah, Hayao Miyazaki does great work. I love most of his films. i never finished "my neighbor totoro" though. i think i have seen most if not all the other ones. probably gonna watch ponyo too.

Oh right forgot about this movie, yeah it was good. But sometimes its like WTF IS THAT?

umami smokes shisha - August 6, 2009, 2:30 pm haiyo miyazaki is DAMN good at what he does...

his song also created a few things too. Although the only one I can think of that I have seen is Ged Senky (tales from earth sea)

movies liek these have changed my life ^.^

i adore spirited away, but one thing that confused me was the no face.. he was kind of pointless and creepy.

howls moving castle and my neighbour totoro are a couple other favies by haiyo miyazaki.

they've been my favourites for a long time ^__^

Hayao Miyazaki has made his works into classics. His works are easy to pick up and are lovable. He is one of my personal faves as well. He's up there in my god tier of great mangaka and authors, such as Masamune Shirow. ?

Spirited Away (?????????, Sen to Chihiro no Kamikakushi?, lit. Sen and Chihiro's Spiriting Away) is a 2001 Japanese animated film written and directed by Hayao Miyazaki and produced by Studio Ghibli. The film views a sullen ten-year-old girl in the middle of her family's move to a new town (presumably the countryside) and her adventures in a world of spirits and monsters.

The film received many awards, including the second Oscar ever awarded for Best Animated Feature, the first anime film to win an Academy Award, and the first (and so far only) non-English speaking animation to win. The film also won the Golden Bear at the 2002 Berlin International Film Festival (tied with Bloody Sunday) and is among the top ten in the BFI list of the 50 films you should see by the age of 14.

Spirited Away overtook Titanic in the Japanese box office to become the highest-grossing film in Japanese history.
