It's in really bad taste to nominate yourself.

Sure, I don't think anyone will nominate me, but I'm not bold enough to nominate myself.

Just think you should rethink this and also spell better...

Why are you nominating this user?: I think that the user should be nominated and win this contest because in the past 1 month he has written so many great tutorials, and given out free signatures to a lot of people on this wonderful forum. I'm pretty sure that if he continues with this temp he will be very successful. I can vouch for him :)

Why are you nominating this user?: I personally know this user in real life, we're actually cousins; however I have valid points for nominating him regardless of our personal relationship. Although he may not appear to be the "best" user, I know he has great intentions for everything he does. He wants to become a very high quality member of this great community, but as most know this is a harder task as a non-upgraded member. I believe if he were to be upgraded, this would give him the opportunity to rise up and use his full potential. He is very generous, and enjoys doing contests. He is willing to share any knowledge he has with others, as well as put the time/effort into doing so. Some personal information about him: He name is Joe, and is 17 years old. He is currently resided in Philadelphia, Pennsylvania; he will be attending Liberty University college in August and major in Sports Management. Anyway, there is much more to say about this user, but I believe this is a suffice amount of information for this nomination.

Thank you "Boomer(:" for holding this contest, you are very kind.

Hi, I'm Joe also known as Philly br. First off I'd like to thank Boomer for holding this contest, you're very generous. Next I would like to thank Justin Bieber for nominating me. Good luck to everyone else in the contest. I would like to win this contest so that I can continue improving my quality as a HackFourms member. I plan on doing this by continuing to hold member contests, as well as report post as I see necessary to help improve the overall experience for users in our community. Thanks again Boomer.

Hi i'm I_tunasty_I or Tunasty™ and i would like to thank to Whos Phenom for nominating and to Boomer for holding this contest. Yesterday when ppl were giving you -rep, i wish i could help you out with your rep but i couldnt coz i'm not a l33t member. I have seen you around HF a lot and i can just tell you are a HQ member and very trusted. I would love to win this contest because as Phenom mentioned, i have done some free services and giveaways. I love HF because its teaching me a lot of stuff. If i become l33t, i would keep up my hard work and maybe start making money here like you do Boomer. More important help out other people who need help. Once again, big thanks Whos Phenom and Boomer. :)

Why are you nominating this user?: I am nominating him for a couple reasons.

First is he has helped me many of times. From figuring out settings to getting more in detail and explaining them to me so I would understand them. He has helped me in many other ways as well. I do not have the time to list them all right now. But I can say this.

He is a good person and helps people out when needed.

Why are you nominating this user?: Firstly he is a nice guy, we have coded some things together, we talked about lots of stuff, and I can see that he is a good person above everything. He checked some prices for me, he went on some sites that I couldn't he tested my programs, what can I say more?

I really think that he deserves this.. Also, I can say that he says what he thinks, so if he thinks your evil or good he will say that to your face! He easily expresses what he thinks
