

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [\[Review\] Dragon Crisis](#)

[animeFAN!] Shana - April 9, 2011, 2:48 pm

I just finished this less than five minutes ago. Let's have a review while it's still fresh! ;3

Dragon Crisis

[img]<http://static.animefushigi.com/category/dragon-crisis.jpg>[/img]

Plot

Kisaragi Ryuji is a level 10 Breaker for a secret society studying lost preciouses. Lost preciouses are magical items that come in many forms, whether they be weapons or something miscellaneous. Ryuji's cousin, Eriko, shows up at his school one day to go retrieve a lost precious from the notorious gang, Fang. What they find instead is a young red dragon.

My Opinion

I had great expectations going into the series because of Rie and the plot description that I read(mostly Rie). It had a great story although I wished they could delved into it a bit more. It's tiresome to infer the meanings behind some of the terminology(Breaker, etc). There was also a point where the characters included in the Harem were just ridiculously in love. That was one of the low points in the anime, heavily distracting from actual plot and character development. Still, it was a fun watch and I laughed many times within the series. I recommend that you watch it in your spare time.

Fun Facts

Kugimiya Rie is the Red Dragon mentioned in the plot. There's little to no tsun this time around. Horie Yui works alongside Rie again, going from Minori(Toradora) to another Dragon. Rie as main love interest and a main character named Ryuuji? Where have we seen that before? hmm...

I've finished writing, now it's more than five minutes from the last episode(which, by they way, made me go WTF). Enjoy :D