

Forum: Hack Forums

Thread: Need help with a bruteforce

Controlled - May 9, 2011, 9:20 pm

Can someone force this cpanel Admin and Password? i tried the nooby ones like Admin admin and admin password, i am pretty nooby with a bruteforcer and dont have the time at the moment to learn how to use it, so if anyone can help me please pm me or post in here.

Cpanel link: <http://carrescia.com:2082/login/>

Thanks! :)

Viral Dragon - May 10, 2011, 12:31 am

Op:

Don't cross post. Also, that's the thing about Brute Forcing. The way to make it go faster is to either make the script better, or get a better server.

There is no magical way to make it go faster or be more accurate. If you want a Web authentication bruteforcer, get something like Hydra.

-Viral.

Controlled - May 10, 2011, 4:37 pm

first off i have no idea what the hell your talking about, i never said anything about making anything faster or a server or anything. all im asking is if someone could force the admin and password. make sure you read the post before commenting fucking retard

Viral Dragon - May 11, 2011, 10:47 am

@Op:

Oh I'm sorry. I didn't realize trying to help you made me a fucking retard. Or as you put in those words. So here's mine. Stop being a stuck up dick. I was helping you. And I answered your question. You asked if someone could do it for you and I said that's the thing about bruteforcing. It's not something you can do uber fast UNLESS you had something faster. Like a server of your own.

Did you even read my fucking post or did you see this:
"Oh no user/pass he must be retarded"?

I'm inclined to think that's what I saw. Because all I see from you is ungratefulness to someone trying to help you. I think you need to learn to drop your attitude and start thanking those that help you.

And FYI request go in the request section. So now I'll say it again.

No one will do this for you, unless you pay them. We're not you're army, and oh yeah even if someone else does it the wait time will be horrendous whether you like it or not, unless they can make it go faster by having their own personal server to attack the bruteforcer to.

Does that make sense now? Did you perhaps read this post?

-Viral.

Peelsaven - May 11, 2011, 10:59 am

no, someone cannot do this for you thethatguy - May 11, 2011, 11:17 am

LMFAO YOU BAD PERSON YOU !!

(May 11, 2011 10:47 AM)Viral Dragon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) @Op:

Oh I'm sorry. I didn't realize trying to help you made me a fucking retard. Or as you put in those words. So here's mine. Stop being a stuck up dick. I was helping you. And I answered your question. You asked if someone could do it for you and I said that's the thing about bruteforcing. It's not something you can do uber fast UNLESS you had something faster. Like a server of your own.

Did you even read my fucking post or did you see this:
"Oh no user/pass he must be retarded"?

I'm inclined to think that's what I saw. Because all I see from you is ungratefulness to someone trying to help you. I think you need to learn to drop your attitude and start thanking those that help you.

And FYI request go in the request section. So now I'll say it again.

No one will do this for you, unless you pay them. We're not your army, and oh yeah even if someone else does it the wait time will be horrendous whether you like it or not, unless they can make it go faster by having their own personal server to attack the bruteforcer to.

Does that make sense now? Did you perhaps read this post?

-Viral.

I can do it for you surfer have a new way I'm exploiting it's got a decent success rate and it's much faster. Thing is I have a couple of tasks on hand so give me a day or day or two and I would be glad to help you.

TTG

wozney - May 11, 2011, 11:40 am

"Advice for keysurfer"

Most Cpanel usernames are not Admin or admin or Administrator or administrator!!!

It's usually the login name for their hosting account. Unless they have their own server then it "COULD" be the 4 admins.

Impurity - May 11, 2011, 2:26 pm

You just got ass raped by Viral Dragon.

G'day.