Who We Are

CodeStrike is a group that is dedicated to coding and application development. This group will vary in experience. Newbie's and Professionals alike, anyone can join (they must meet the requirements though). We focus on increasing our abilities in a variety of ways. This includes group projects, application reviews (professional and member-made), helping with coding, teaching others, completing missions, and much much more! Now where's the hacking? ? Well we exploit applications as well so they can develop their security and therefore thrive. ?
