Thread: Subscriber thread moving

I dont know if its possible but i had this idea that as an uber we should be able to move our own threads. If they are in the wrong section we can just move them ourselves it would take the load off of staff a little bit. Now idk if omni can do it or if it was posted already im just throwing this out there.

Yes you are right because this will make the work for staff bit easier as they don't have to work much and if you ask me limit this feature till UB3R only. Suggestion is good.

I know why you are thinking that but L33Ts are horrible if that is for UB3R. And there are users that try to create nuisance and are mostly L33Ts coz either they get rep molested and or are denied for UB3R, please do not take any offense to this as I mean a small group of L33Ts and we all know them. I say sorry if it was an offense to someone.
