Hope this helps teach you guys something worth while. Colour correction is an essential adjustment effect to master if I'm honest. It's versatile and improves any image.

PLEASE NOTE: There are different forms of colour correction, in my tutorial I cover ONLY one. However, I show you the tools needed to colour correct. The rest is down to you.

Good luck and hope this helps.

Peace HF.

Why has no one responded to this yet...apparently people think they actually understand this but, I can guarantee you go more in depth than they understand...
