Thread: [\[Tutorial\] Lighting Basics PART 1](#)

pseud0 - May 30, 2011, 10:02 pm

This is a short explanatory video on lighting basics, Part 2 will be a step by step on properly adjusting the lighting on a composite image.

Hopefully this will explain some of the bare essentials.

I'm downloading the video if that's okay with you? I'm pretty excited :) Pseud0COOL :) is an awesome graphic artist, teacher and a good guy!
Sniffin all throughout the video but still cute lol Thanks a load! ?

Very nice tutorial, your voice is very clear, and your English is smooth.
I learned much from this, thanks.

Nice! How do you get so much views on your thread? My first and second tutorial that I worked on soooo hard barely got 30 hits and not even one comment :(

How do you do it?

pseud0 - May 31, 2011, 6:34 pm

Not really sure lol, I suppose people just want to learn what i am offering? I wish more responded to be honest, but as long as they watch the vids i am happy.

Is a good place to start. My lessons are for those who want to expand their knowledge, I am trying to teach things that are a little more difficult to find a good source for, not something the trusty search button can teach you
