Smoofysmoof - June 2, 2011, 3:53 pm

alright, I will post the conversation that took place through PM's.

He basicly accepted the money, told me he was connecting (to do the installs) and then blocked me and logged off.

Smoofysmoof Wrote:Harold Camping Wrote:Smoofysmoof Wrote:Harold Camping Wrote>Hello.

I currently have a install store on HF.

I sell 100 installs for only 10$. 1 dollar per 10 installs. (DDoser.)

I am a very trusted member on HF.

Please reply with how much installs you need and i will send you back my payment email.

I would like to buy 100 please. Possibly more in the future, but for now I will start at 100.

Ok. Well in my thread i have a cool freebie. My 1st customer of the day gets an extra 10 bots for their order. So you will be getting 110 bots for 10 dollars. Might not sound like much but hey, at least you saved 1 dollar!

Ok. Please send the payment to YehMasoom@hotmail.com. Send it as a gift, of i will refund you.

When you have sent, please reply to me with your transcation ID and your teamviewer details and ill install the bots for you now.

Money Sent.

It isn't wise to just copy then paste the text from any, and all conversations held between you two in regards to your prior trades. I'm sorry but this sincerely doesn't prove much of anything.

You will be needing to provide visual evidence to support your claims by way of taking screenshots of all conversations, uploading them to an image hosting site, then displaying the images here for us to review.

As well, there is a specific section of the Marketplace that is for the purposes of posting deal disputes between two members.

LethalMG - June 2, 2011, 4:04 pm

You should do that post on the correct section, and read the rules.

He scammed me out of $10 for bot Installs

In future you should post proof.

This is amusing actually, as i was just on a thread that he has created about being the "youngest richest HF member" maybe scamming HF members is how he does this?
