

Forum:Hack Forums

Thread: [\[Source-VB.NET\] Url Shortener Revisited](#)

idb. - June 11, 2011, 8:12 am

I'm sure everyone has seen GanjaMan-WS's Url Shortening thread (if not it's located here: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=1068116>). This is basically a rewrite of that (as per request of Kousha). I feel that this way is a lot more clean, has less redundant code, and just works faster.

This is in no way trying to take away from GanjaMan-WS or attempting to discredit his code/thread. This was just my take on the topic. As a matter of fact, I used the Url's provided by him in his source (was too lazy to register for developer keys myself (is this where someone tries to tell me I'm a skid or that I steal source? lolol)) so much respect and thanks to him. :)

That being said... heres a little demo.

PS: tiny.cc is slow as shit. Not the code. Also, dot.tk is the worst site on the internet next to youtube/lemonparty.

and here is the source:

<http://www.multiupload.com/6M3XDKMUDB>

Mr Kewl - June 11, 2011, 8:27 am

Thanks for sharing.
?

idb. - June 11, 2011, 8:32 am

(Jun 11, 2011 08:27 AM)Mr.Kewl Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks for sharing.
?

No problem man. Make sure to check out GanjaMan-WS's original thread covering this as well. He deserves the views/replies. If not for him, this example wouldn't be here right now :)

PrEhAcKeD - June 11, 2011, 8:38 am

Nice source, ty for sharing

Ethernal Five - June 11, 2011, 8:39 am

I used ganjamans example for my no virus thanks scanner, should i change it to this one?

Cody8295 - June 11, 2011, 9:02 am

Looks pretty awesome bro, is dot.tk just there for show? Haha.

idb. - June 11, 2011, 9:19 am

(Jun 11, 2011 09:02 AM)Cody8295 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Looks pretty awesome bro, is dot.tk just there for show? Haha.

Adding dot.tk was actually Kousha's idea, but the site was acting extremely stupid so I veto'd it for the time being. 99% of the dot.tk code is inside the project, I just couldn't get a valid response from the server (through code or manually through browser). Once they get their shit together I will finish implementing it.

Any other shortening services that anyone would like me to add please drop in a response here. It would take all but 5 minutes to implement with the way the code is set up.

DragQueen - June 11, 2011, 11:29 am

2x post bug ???

DragQueen - June 11, 2011, 11:29 am

my opinion ... lot of work for nothing.
u can use simple WebClient.downloadString
for that. but cool work.

Kousha - June 11, 2011, 2:26 pm

This is a really nice source! He did this all over teamview, it's really clean and quick (besides tinycc) Thanks alot for this, helped me alot. Much respect for idb :)

no1me - June 11, 2011, 2:54 pm

tnx and i hope u continue posting good stuff

.Astro - June 11, 2011, 3:03 pm

Did you use a public account for the links or just used them?

Kousha - June 11, 2011, 8:53 pm

(Jun 11, 2011 03:03 PM)+Crex Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Did you use a public account for the links or just used them?

You do not need any accounts for the links to be provided.

Green Troll - June 11, 2011, 8:58 pm

so you copied the source and changed the GUI...? well done...

Kousha - June 11, 2011, 9:15 pm

(Jun 11, 2011 08:58 PM)Green Troll Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) so you copied the source and changed the GUI...? well done...

Not at all, idb did this ALL from scratch, all he used from him was the link's he offered in his source.

idb. - June 11, 2011, 9:29 pm

(Jun 11, 2011 08:58 PM)Green Troll Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) so you copied the source and changed the GUI...? well done...

Perhaps download his project and then download mine and compare. You probably would have been better off reading the actual post i made in the beginning. the only thing that is the same from his project and mine are the url's used to create the actual shortened links.

Slow your troll.

Kousha - June 12, 2011, 12:40 pm

I still think this programs awesome :P

error32 - June 12, 2011, 5:37 pm

Thanks this is awesome I love 99% of your posts you're a cool guy :-)

Kousha - June 15, 2011, 2:16 pm

(Jun 12, 2011 05:37 PM)error32 Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) Thanks this is awesome I love 99% of your posts you're a cool guy :-)

No sir, you're awesome :D

Good for emergency's.

INFA?OUS - June 27, 2011, 8:31 am

This is great.Thanks for the share.