thanks man love you:)) i was waiting for this

Drah - September 3, 2009, 7:03 am you should take off this link, it will become detectable, it happened with my crypter.

istanbul - September 3, 2009, 8:34 am thanks washburn again. Today i installed manually on 2 computers at work for a try. 1 blonde , 1 brunette:). And logs really fine every 10 minutes from each computer. But I have to ask 2 things.

1)How can we uninstall your keylogger:D 10 minutes of logging is annoying. My mailbox is full of logs already:D I don't think Gmail's disk space is growing as fast as the 10 minutes log e-mails:)And Nod32 protected PCs were my target. So we need an uninstall instruction. AVs can not detect and remove your keylogger:)

2) Can not be installed or work on 64 bit Vistas or XPs. Tried today. Do you have on your mind for building a 64Bit edition in the future Washburn?

Once more, thank you. And my advice to HF members who need Keylogger, you can trust and choose Washburn's. So simple, easy and FUD. Not advanced or extreme talents, but does what we need. Keylogs everything...

And please distribute by PM method Washburn. Please let's keep your keylogger FUD and a little secret:(Just a suggestion. I didn't like to see # link. I know that only in turkey 5 huge hack forums are copying and pasting from HackForums.Net . And thousands of lamers tries to do nonsense activities with your programs, work, software.. Just think about it. Hundreds of countries and forums, blogs. So it will be hard to make it FUD for a long time by giving a public link.

Thanks again..

jado - September 3, 2009, 8:38 am plz scann itttttt and too short

istanbul - September 3, 2009, 8:41 am

Let's make a deal. Please PM me for the link of Washburn's Keylogger:) I'll give instead of him. But let's remove # link. So let's always say "It's still FUD."

Hey dude. Sorry for my ignorance, but can my gmail username and my received logs be the same? I tried this and tested the Gmail and got the message to continue.. but I'm curious.

Numbzz - September 3, 2009, 7:23 pm this works like a charm still FUD and gettin me passwords and humor as we speak. in the logs someone was searching gay porn no lie LOL. i would rep but i dont know how or if i can i clicked the thanks thing tho.. .

larginus - September 3, 2009, 7:24 pm

Great job, but please tell me which file to delete to uninstall, as I don't see anything in the Program Files\Microsoft folder (even with hidden files visible).

Thank you very much.

GI?ryallowed - September 3, 2009, 7:41 pm

Work Like A Charm, And FUD, How Can It Be Better?

x8rUn0x - September 3, 2009, 7:45 pm

noooooo whyd you put the link up?!?! ?

larginus - September 3, 2009, 8:51 pm

Hmm, doesn't seem to restart automatically after turning computer off. That's a bit sad, considering that when binding to a file, the target user would be running the file AFTER logging into email/IM, so the most important keystrokes won't be logged - that is, the password :-)

istanbul - September 3, 2009, 11:04 pm

There is a comic problem with your keylogger. Sometimes it misses some keys:) I've been testing on 3 systems. I test it myself. Also annoying numlock functionality problem. Almost all passwords involve numbers and most of people use numlock. But we need a crypter to match which number may be which letter. For example i log in my hotmail with a password xxxx252804 and it logs as xxxxbcdhe something like that. Numlock keys are something else. e, b, d, h, some letters replace numlock numbers as logging. And only works with english Q keyboard. - i - becomes - ' - for example in another keyboard and region choice.

FUD, simple, logs, but needs some update. Has bugs. The most important thing is, it really misses keystrokes. Especially i make tests. Type a specific text fast. And wait for ten minutes, and see that there are lots of letters missing. And numbers are shown only if typed over the qwerty section. Not from numpad section.

Zeroi9 - September 4, 2009, 7:21 am

Super! Exactly what I was looking for. Tho I still think that you should remove the link, and only let it out with PM's. I know im a low ranked member, but I prefer a FUD keylogger with advanced features when I get higher ranks, instead of a detected keylogger now. ^^ ?

PsyK0T - September 4, 2009, 7:55 am

Works perfectly :)

A lot of logs !

Just useless logs

Rare - September 4, 2009, 9:43 am where does the keylogger save to when you press build also what is stub.exe is that it?

_3rr0r - September 4, 2009, 1:17 pm

(Sep 4, 2009 09:57 AM)Aftermath Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) where does the keylogger save to when you press build also what is stub.exe is that it?

I put the same email in both gmail and recieved logs and it worked. It will make a file in the same folder as the creator when you click build. (+rep aftermath? lol)

Also, don't worry about the stub.exe .. only the file the creator makes.

Or can you make it look like a .JPG or a .GIF and it will still work?

You put your Gmail and password in the builder , change the ToThoZ.exe to something (the name , but must end with .exe) e.g game, my pic .. (Game .exe) or something like that.

Click build . and you have you server ready to send to your victim, Save it on your desktop . and here you go !

You maybe have to bind you file with a pic or something , look after a tut about that .. because many email provider dont allow you to send a exe by email , but i have a way around that , read my small TUT about that .. Good luck

No ! you make you Gmail in this box again(user name on Gmail) same you do in first step ..

Just put your Gmail in the " Received Logs " and when you have your victim log in , you have the log in your Mail account ..

It works.. I set the thing to 10 minutes and it took it about 13 to upload though. The chat's messy too but you can get enough information to guess out of it.

EDIT: Found out why it doesn't come back at startup... It doesn't create the file where it says it does. It does in the registry, but it doesn't actually put the file in there. So as long as your victims computer doesn't turn off/restart you'll have a working keylogger...

Path where the Keylogger supposed to be at: "C:\Program Files\Microsoft\FILE.exe"

Okay...

I'm not on XP, I'm on Vista 64... Where exactly is this the keylogger located? I have it running and cannot locate it.

bb1ox1bb - September 11, 2009, 2:48 am

Niels maby someone hacked yours email ?)

mohsin111 - September 11, 2009, 7:35 am

Wow my first post?

Anyways Keylogger is great and is undetectable. But there are bugs in it like the if the numpad keys are pressed it shows defc figures in the log and it does not auto start at windows startup in victim's pc.

risalatina - September 11, 2009, 11:36 am

Do you need to bind the Stub with the created .exe file

I use the creator, makes me example.exe, do i send example.exe to my victims or do i have to bind it with stub.exe before spreading it.

Malfunction - September 11, 2009, 6:05 pm

So after the computer is shutdown the keylogger is deactivated?

Can someone reupload this to mediafire please?

mohsin111 - September 12, 2009, 1:11 am

Well i have some Questions

1. What is a stub file?
2. Do we need to bind stub file with the file created by the keylogger to it to work perfectly?
3. Is there anyway to make a file start at the windows start up?
4. How to attach it with a Jpeg file for better stealth so user wont know it?

TÃ@IÃ©ch-Rage - September 13, 2009, 6:51 am

Yes : Must we bind the Stub AND the keylogg ?

EDIT : I'm on vista 32bits and it seems do be not working...i don't receive the logs l3w1s09 - September 13, 2009, 6:58 am

Steman - September 13, 2009, 7:17 am

behaviour similar to keylogger cause thats the keylogger the owner made...

Steman - September 14, 2009, 10:17 am dugran - clearly newb of the year, otherwise you would have awnsered my question instead of

The keylogger uses the victims internet to send you the logs. If the computer is turned of, than there isn't anything to send the logs from, because there is no connection to the router. Also, the keylogger is a hidden process which you can only see through the task manager. And as far as i know, processes are turned off when the computer is turned off.

N2oLIV - September 14, 2009, 10:31 am

Yeah. I just read earlier in the thread something and it registered for me as "once they turn their comp off the keylogger is done for good". I now understand that they meant when they turn their comp off, there's no connectivity until the get back on/have their net running. Thanks for clarifying that.

It's running ok for me. I'm really happy with it since it's free and undetectable. My only issue is that it skips words sometimes (for me at least). I think it's kickass work though and I appreciate it much :)

To turn it off, delete the file, end his task, and go in regedit, then search with the filename.
Just invert the first two steps
