Sup people,

I was bored and I made this little funny program called "Now Playing for Winamp".

It get's the current song in Winamp and sends it to Twitter using the Twitter API.

This is the first project which I made from scratch. So no Copy, Pasting. This is the real deal, 100% made by myself.

The only external things I used are TwitterVB, the twitter API for Visual Basic and +Crex Theme.

So credits to the makers of TwitterVB and +Crex.

Some pictures:

-Check's if Winamp is running:

So what do you think?

Would you use it and what should I change / add?

Thanks,

Hipio

I think it looks like an interesting program, I wonder if I could maybe have this program and the source, I could add some features into a program that I am building, and I would give you credit.
Let me know.

So no release, nor a source release.
Will remain private then
What makes you think that? Is it the lack of responses? Don't worry, it's common.. If it's in the .NET section it needs to be a crypter or a RAT source to get a lot of responses. ?

I put lots of time into this project and then there is a lack of responses.
Kinda annoying

I hope so, but anyway back on topic.
Do you like it?

P.S. YEAH VOOR NEDERLAND ?

Hmm, how about instead of closing itself if Winamp isn't open, it idles and background checks for Winamp on a regular basis.

This really looks good.
Add more tweet type.

That is a good idea, will add that.
Thanks :D

Thanks for your reaction.
What kind of tweet type would you like then?

This is pretty cool, and as far as i know, the only of its kind.

Nice work dude, and like the dude said above, if its not malicious, you can forget getting a lot of responses.

Thanks Coleak, your reaction means a lot to me :D

If this is the only one of its kind then I'm even prouder on myself.

True true. I mean this is a VB section, they SHOULD expect some non-malicious software.

Ya, true that, but you have to realize that there are maybe 15 members in this section that actually donate, and all of the leech, or post help threads, and that probably wont change.

Yeah, that's true. But it's still kinda annoying -.-

I wont use this because i dont have twitter, but if people use this, wont they spam their on page with songs? So when you change a song does it send a tweet?

It checks the current song every 2,5 minutes. So it won't tweet songs if you search one. And yeah if you run it all day it would kinda spam your wall xD.

But hey that's why there is a Stop button on it ^^
