PayPal Digital Goods Instant Delivery Script

"Don't Even THINK About Selling Digital Goods Without This Script!"
Do you Sell Digital Goods?

Are you tired of spending at least 20 minutes per day verifying if a customer truly bought your digital good? Are you tired of spending another 10 minutes sending out those digital goods to paying customers? Are you tired of customers complaining for late delivery? Imagine all that stress, gone.

My digital goods instant delivery system is here to rescue you! I created a PHP script just for people like you. Now, you won't have to do and worry about any of those things!

Features:

[?] A member's area with three, newbie friendly, script generators.

[?] Fill in a couple of text boxes, and it automatically generates the scripts you need for you!

[?] An extremely simple, very newbie friendly, PHP script.

[?] A guide inside the script which tells you which codes to switch to your own (for example, the amount your digital good costs).

[?] A PDF manual teaching you exactly how to configure the script to your needs.

[?] Have your digital goods delivered to the person's PayPal email, stopping fraud.

[?] Extreme security. Nobody will be able to "hack" or even do the slightest damage to the script because the script refers back to PayPal to make sure that payment was sent!

Now Automated!

At last, in the new thrilling V2 update, I created a script that automates the whole process!

Now, you won't even have to touch the code!

All you have to do is fill in a couple of text boxes with information such as "What is the cost of your item", nothing hard, and it will automatically generate a script just for you!

IMPORTANT Please PM or reply to my email with your desired username and password for the member's area.

Steelmob, I'm sold, How much for this thing?

Best of all, this script is a dime sale! This script costs a measly $3! Hurry before prices rise! This price is only $3 for a limited time. Don't complain if the price goes up and you still haven't gotten your copy!

To purchase your copy, click here.

Updates Log

Click Here To See The Updates Log (Click to View)

V1 - Created the script with a manual on how to edit it.

V1.1 - Made more clear instructions within the code.

V2 - Created a fully automated, plug and play script. Fill in the text boxes and it generates the code!

V3 - Added two more features, form generators. These are more secure and have more features than the link creators.

Yes, exactly. It refers back to PayPal to make sure the exact payment was made.

No exploits can be made, it's been tested so much times.

Yes, it uses secure IPN (it has to, there's not other way), however, IPN doesn't include sending out emails and doesn't capture a lot of information that you need. I created a custom PHP script filling in all the blanks and creating everything :).

Unfortunately, this will only work with your website (you could get a free one if you choose to) since there is a special PHP script that you will be uploading.

Unless you can redirect them to your website to pay, then you can't :(.

Hope it works out,

Huge vouch for Steelmob.

Steelmob, has hands-down all my complete and utter respect. Not only is he a genuinely nice, competent guy, but the guy has his "shit" together. Easily one of the best internet marketers on this forum and underprices his services/content. Why waste money on repetitive eBooks when they reiterate the same public things...

I'm in no way affiliated with Steelmob, just giving a vouch for a respectable friend. Also, no I don't get clouded by that bullshit of vouching for friends. I don't even have a huge track record for vouching for others... I only give it to people who I respect and deserve it. Quality guy who won't steer you wrong.

I have a live preview of the script when you buy it... All the script does is replace the "Buy Now Button" that PayPal uses, with a special code that emails them the product after purchase... How exactly could it look like crap? After all, you can choose any image as the buy now button, I specify that in the manual.

I already have a quota. It's 10. I just don't like saying it in the sales page because people will wait 'till the last minute.

Right now I'm coding a manual system (enter stuff in the text boxes and it generates the code), it's already been 3 hours but I realized I did something wrong and it was a dead path... so now I'm re-coding it...

The subscription feature will come, it's actually pretty darn easy, but I want to create a manual system first, to make it much easier for newbies.

Digital goods are eBooks, software, etc, anything that isn't physical.

That's pretty easy to create (using a couple variables) however, you would have to manually code it and I don't want people to do that. I want it to be as easy as possible and for it to be automated.

In the future, I will create auto-updating price (for example, every two sales, the price increases by 50 cents) and I will create other functions such as the one you just stated. But that's not going to happen overnight, it will take some coding, research and testing.

I'll try to implement that feature in the future since it's so popular!

I just need to find a way to automate it, coding it manually is easy, but automating it for customers that are newbies, is pretty hard. Especially when you're dealing with pretty complex scripts.

It's not a public script. I changed many features in it, to either make it more secure, send out emails, etc.

I'm also making much more updates in the future, for example; a price that updates automatically after every 2 sales, etc.

Thank you and yes, everything will be totally secure. Right now, I don't have enough time to create everything, especially because I only got about 10 sales, which equals to $30, and I want to invest more time into other projects of mine.

But don't worry, I will still further develop the e-commerce system.

Maybe once it has more advanced functions I will get more sales. But at the same time, when it has more functions I'll increase the price to ~$10 and that many sales won't pour in.

I still have to think about this script, but once more, I will further develop and expand it.

I think you should start increasing it to $5 after a couple updates, then step up to $10 or something... So you can get more funding as you go along you know? :P!

The thing is, if I do fund more right now, less people will purchase it.

Edit: I just created 2 different tools, they are like the link creators, but they generate forms. They are more secure and have more functions.

Well, once this catches on and you make it pretty nice people will buy it for an upwards of $15.

Yeah, that's true, but it'll have to catch on first :P.

LoveToHax - June 24, 2011, 5:31 pm

It'll catch on, things like this usually do.

You just have to make it outstanding.

Like, you have to add something other scripts don't have :P.

Well, my script is like the first script on HF with this function. However, later I will try to make it better and better, I just need to do a little bit of research and find some time.

LoveToHax - June 26, 2011, 3:27 pm

Yeah, how many sales so far?

13. I'm not raising the price yet because of the decrease in sales, if I raise it, close to nobody will buy it :(.

Siir Clutch - June 26, 2011, 4:39 pm

:/ Add the other features bro, and I'll try and help you get more sales!

Well, I can't exactly add more features if I'm not getting much customers...

The money that I get goes into the program.

Thanks though, hopefully you'll get me some more sales.
