Why? Can't have a simple conversation about getting my old account back with the administrator of the site my account needs to be recovered on?

Qwazz - June 22, 2011, 4:10 pm

Ban evading/multiple accounts. You should have used the contact form to regain over your old account, instead of making a new one.

I love how you call him by his first name.

Qwazz - June 22, 2011, 4:15 pm

Then recover it via email, if it's truly your account you should know your secret question, and have access to the email your account is associated with. It's funny how people always have these problems right after they're banned. coincidence? I think not.

I know that feel. Unban me. ;_;

I have literally 100 emails, if he wants to give me the email the account is associated with, I'm sure I can recover it.... oh wait, Jesse raged and changed my name to Phucked-Up and moved my account into the Dead Accounts group.

He may not be Ub3r.

But contact form is fine.

My old account was L33T, there wasn't even an ub3r group until after I got banned.

I was just pointing out to Qwazz that Secret question is an Ub3r only feature.

And, if it was that long ago. Your account may have been purged.

Just try and be patient, he is a busy man, and has a lot of things to do. I'm sure he wouldn't be ignoring you.

Xenon - June 22, 2011, 4:23 pm

Is it necessary to call Omni by his first name? I doubt this is the most concerning thing that he has to do with his time.

June 13th was the last email I sent to him before he started ignoring me, so unless he's been busy for almost 10 straight days and hasn't had 5 minutes to reply to a Email then he's obviously ignoring me.

@Xenon or w/e

Why does it matter? Jesse is his name, if you met him in real life, would you call him Omniscient? Nope (Unless you're really that much of an asskisser).

Burnzy - June 22, 2011, 4:47 pm

hey jibbo your username is black :D

you should use contact form, making double accs got your leet acc killed.

It matters because you have NOT met me in real life.

Actually that can happen. I'm extremely busy everyday. I can wake up to 50 new PMs and 50 new emails. At this point in time I'm almost receiving contacts at the rate I reply. So it's been difficult to keep up. Even more so when an email has a bunch of bullshit like calling me a retard. It just slows me down.

I can't even be sure at this point what happened to your account. But at this point I don't care. You're in Dead group for multiple accounts. And your belief that you're entitled to have an account here is wrong.

You are no longer welcome.

Goodbye.
