As you can see its not all fud yet, however it will. Its still got a month.
However the Worm is FUD, as usual

pr0t0typ3 - July 2, 2011, 1:24 pm

This is the worst possible idea. If you are a single coder a AIO will bring you a bad reputation in no time.

It is impossible to keep all parts of the AIO updated properly.

Even if you are able to do it for more then a month, it will become a pain in the ass if you spend all day removing detections.

But that are just my two cents.

Just look at gamepro127. He even faked his death to get away from his AIO.

Megan Foxxx - July 2, 2011, 1:34 pm

I am going to get ciders to updates stubs

I'm going to start it myself, the hire some people to keep certain parts FUD

He faked his death, lol

I'll look into him now

This is the first thing that came into my head when thinking about a AIO.

Deal - July 3, 2011, 5:26 am

I think it's a great idea, however it's a big chance to take, if you're unable to update it then you may risk to get mad customers.

But yeah, if you want to spend the time on coding it and keeping it updated, then I definitely support the idea.

Since I don't have a clue what that is, no.

Later he tried to fake his death be making some HF members post that they have been RL Friends and he would be dead.

IMO that had too many features

London worm is pretty much always FUD

The logger will need in once a week ish

The crypter every few days

The downloader about once every month ish

I'm not going to abandon though, unless I win the lottery, then I will release it all for free, however that's unlikely.

Even if you win the lottery you will not give it out for free as you will first donate half to me as you love me, but yeah you could simply focus on the crypter as people could just crypt the other malware.

The jackpot for Tuesday is £151 million
Not $ £!!

I'll donate loads to everyone, from my current worm sale. I'm donating over 500 + which is 50% to charities

And I will probably focus on the crypter anyway for that reason

And I'll donate the source to customers, then a while later public

Alright so we have a deal, if you win on Tuesday then £51 milion to me, so you have a nice amount you can divide easier ?
Anyway good luck with your sales.

Unfortunately it's unlikely, but possible :)

If I do I will :)

It's around 250 mill usd
So some for everyone :)
And a house in America ect :)

Any way back to reality and the aio

Megan Foxxx - July 4, 2011, 12:38 pm

Ive added all the features to the OP
Read and suggest new features :D

BlackHops - July 4, 2011, 1:20 pm

So the crypter will be .net dependant? (It says says codedom)

Megan Foxxx - July 4, 2011, 1:22 pm

Yes it will be .net
And codedom

AIO's are hard to maintain, but I'm sure if you take a SHIT load of time to work on it then I'm sure you should be able to do it :)
Good luck looks very fucking nice at the moment.

pr3fix - July 4, 2011, 1:25 pm

I suggest you NOT to start AIO.

Simply because it's too hard to maintain. Just take Blackout AIO as an example, he wasn't even able to maintain his for 2-3 months. Plus, it's too frustrating when 5 tools get detected at the same time ...

Megan Foxxx - July 4, 2011, 1:27 pm

I am going to hire 1-2 coders to keep the logger and stuff FUD, to reduce stress.
As well as 2-3 support

This means i can focus on the builders updates and new features
Its pretty much ready, apart from the crypter anyway

zzGoWR - July 5, 2011, 12:09 am

Can I suggest PolyStairs encryption for the Crypter?

That'd be amazing! :D

Chakalaka - July 5, 2011, 12:43 am

Yeah man that would be awesome make london aio and it will be future sensation on hackforums.

Megan Foxxx - July 5, 2011, 5:49 am

New features added
As well as current scans

BO AIO was made with the sole purpose of scamming people, this isn't.

OP, how about a stealer? I'd be nice to have one.

Megan Foxxx - July 5, 2011, 8:30 am

The keylogger steals cd keys, however I have thought about a password however they are hard to code and keep FUD.

I might do later in it's life

Zeon - July 5, 2011, 8:48 am

If you do, will it count as a valid suggestion?

Megan Foxxx - July 5, 2011, 8:51 am

If you suggest something, and I create it, then yes it is a valid suggestion.

I'm going to look into it more tomorrow.

If I do create it I'll pm you

Zeon - July 5, 2011, 8:52 am

Ok, thanks for that. I'll keep an eye on this thread.

It's actually not a bad idea at all, very useful for people who use the Right to Left unicode trick.

SCR, COM, PIF, BAT, any of those would be amazing.

Cercopes - July 6, 2011, 6:08 am

Thank you, zzGoWR
Character map exploitation FTW lol

Well if you decide to make the rat, a feature that allows you to set up your slaves as HTML/sock5 proxies would be nice.

Don't know if this would be too much trouble, but how about a java drive by generator?

Megan Foxxx - July 6, 2011, 6:27 am

I've decided to go ahead with the RAT

Its features will be:

Screen shot manager

keylog manager

Remote Shutdown

Remote download file

Enable/Disable Task manager

Open/Close CD tray

Enable/Disable mouse + keyboard

Ping

Unintsall

DDos TCp + UDP + Packet Size

CodeDom Builder

Fafaffy - July 17, 2011, 9:56 pm

On your AIO, you should include a batch encrypter/virus generator.

heres an example:

Code set ewqq=a

set 1123=c

echo %ewqq% + b = %1123%

I really don't think you should make this, it's very hard to keep everything in the AIO updated and your customers are going to get pissed off.

Megan Foxxx - July 25, 2011, 3:17 am

Think about it

One update for each thing 2 times a month
And just keeping the crypter fud all the time

All of it's done anyway :)
Except the crypter

Hot Chocolate - July 25, 2011, 3:19 am

This will crash just like Blackout AIO did.

It's much harder to keep a crypter FUD than you think.

Thats your opinion, however I disagree.

I am dedicated to this.

And blackout, had a VPN, hosting, booters ect. This isnt as complex as that. And only focuses on the programming. While he focused on adding new things.

The VPN & Hosting probably took about an hour of work, all he had to do was set up some VPN's on a server, same with the hosting, not difficult. The shell booter would of been easy.

I look forward to it falling, that's why no AIO's exist anymore because it's too much work for a single person. Get yourself a team.

I will get myself a team, a few dedicated coders to keep the items fud.
