Thread: No "Post Here and PM"

Justintr4in - July 4, 2011, 12:38 pm

I personally hate when people do this. I don't see why the OP doesn't just post the information he would send in the PM in the thread. It just wastes my time having to post, then having to PM, then having to wait, when I could just see the information right away.

if he dooesnt want some people to have it, like leets in the uber section

The Stig - July 4, 2011, 12:54 pm

Because so we can stop leechers. I think.

Qwazz - July 4, 2011, 12:55 pm

Remember they're giving you something for free. Why complain about having to do one extra step?

Zeon - July 4, 2011, 12:56 pm

They just do it so they can slip in a "THANKS is always appreciated" in their PM.

Un-Named - July 4, 2011, 12:56 pm

It's to stop leechers.

+ what qwazz said.

(Jul 4, 2011 12:56 PM)Zeon Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) They just do it so they can slip in a "THANKS is always appreciated" in their PM.

and? so just ignore it.

or just go into the thread and say...thanks?

This. They can give free shit away however they like. If you don't like it, then don't post and PM, problem solved.?

Pontification - July 4, 2011, 12:57 pm

Omni needs to fucking add an anti-leech addon where when you post in the thread the information is given to you automatically.

Phil Dunphy - July 4, 2011, 12:58 pm

1. Its a mesure to stop leechers.
2. Its a way to keep the thread alive.

If it's your thread, you can decide if you want a Post here & pm or just put the download link in the thread.

That's up to you.

Codevade - July 4, 2011, 12:58 pm

Why do you hate this. Has been a part of giveaways for as long as I can remember. I think the real reason behind this suggestion is that you are not ub3r and cannot receive ub3r giveaways because you cannot post.

that would make a shitton of spam posts

That would be a hassle to make. Stop making stupid ass ideas up when you have no idea the difficulties of them.

Wolves - July 4, 2011, 1:00 pm

This is simply to prevent leeching of the giveaways/product, in theory.

Omni has said in the past that the implement of an anti-leech system is a bit out of the question as it gets quite complicated and would arise more issues than it would actually help.

Jay Bear - July 4, 2011, 1:01 pm

Is it really that big of a deal? It keeps the thread alive is another reason why people do it. And it's free! You have to type 25 characters to get something free and you complain about it.

Joey Tribbiani - July 4, 2011, 1:02 pm

It won't stop leeching since almost anyone who wants to leech it will PM and get it.

I agree with Qwazz though, why complain about free stuff? If you don't want to do it, don't do it.

Starburst - July 4, 2011, 1:08 pm

Helps keep the thread alive, people have to sign up to get it, you increase your post count, OP gets more recognition, what's not to like?

Qwazz - July 4, 2011, 1:10 pm

Remember vending machines entail you're using some kind of currency to get the item you want. Thin line for rep abuse, since people already attempt to use that as currency here.

Justintr4in - July 4, 2011, 1:20 pm

Even in the I33t and ub3r section people still do it, so it doesn't filter out leechers. And one way or another a leecher can get it. If somebody gives me something for free I will always post a thank you in their thread and a lot of people do, keeping it alive.

Also it is a hassle for them too, having to PM every person that wants it. And when the thread/user goes dead, so does the information.

Errors in your post.

Line # | Error

1 | O in you is capitalized, N is capitalized, comma after understand, period at the end.

2 | Want is spelled, "want," B in by is capitalized.

Edit: I can not even read this the grammar is so atrocious. Try reading the post I wrote above yours, then re-writing this with the grammar of at least a 12 year old.

Lemonade - July 4, 2011, 1:44 pm

It is a free service, why complain?

Slenderman - July 4, 2011, 1:48 pm

OP is just mad he can't get shit from the Uber section without posting.

Chris - July 4, 2011, 1:53 pm

It wastes your time? You're getting something free, be grateful.

Misty - July 4, 2011, 1:55 pm

I agree with you. Most of the time OP forgets he / she had a thread open.

Yaco - July 4, 2011, 1:59 pm

They do it for rep, simple.

Justintr4in - July 4, 2011, 2:04 pm

To all the people saying I am ungrateful, I am grateful I always say thank you, it is just wasted effort. And @ Candlejack. + Bigandrewgold, personally, I would not consider myself a leech it is just a suggestion, as it would save time on both ends. And post+pm does not stop leechers at all to whoever thinks that it does. The only valid reason I have seen was for people wanting + rep, but regardless I will +rep if I find the information reputable.

I did Post and PM on my thread? Umad? Want to know why I did it? So it's so much easier. I don't forget which users I PM'd. It's 100% easier just to have people PM you. Deal with it.

KaptaiN - July 4, 2011, 4:31 pm

Because then the thread would die away. Do you think people actually would reply to a thread to say thanks?

Trojan - July 4, 2011, 4:41 pm

And what do you expect to come from this?

Is Staff going to give out a warning for saying "Post and then PM me" ?

You could have at least put some more thought into this one.

And just because you get annoyed by it, doesn't mean that other people are lazy as well and that clicking the PM button is such a huge hassle.

TRUe + true you sir got owned if I was you I would close and delete this since You got enghout humiliated + owned ??

Justintr4in - July 4, 2011, 4:52 pm

I don't expect a staff to change the rules at all. I am expressing my ideas. Maybe if people see this they will take into consideration. If everyone does this the thread won't die, there will just be less pointless posts. Maybe on a giveaway I would like to see some actual feedback instead of looking through 20 pages of, I PM'ED YOU CAN I HAVE THIS NOW! to find one actual real feedback.

The high quality threads will stay alive, and the one's that aren't high quality will die away.

Not looking for approval necessarily, just looking to hopefully (use term loosely) inspire some members to take my suggestion into account.

It is so the OP can "remind" the people to +rep them.

Whats wrong with having manners?

iMario - July 5, 2011, 10:27 am

There are two reason of doing so.

The first reason, is that OP want to keep his thread alive. Believe me, I already tried to put directly a download link, everyone downloads, and don't even take the time to say thanks on the thread.

The second reason people may use this, it's like a way to "remind" people to give them positive reputation.

Well, I don't support the second reason, but I understand people doing that for the first reason.

See the results If I'd made 2 thread post and PM I would have at least got 100 replies.

btw already suggested,

Insidious - July 5, 2011, 10:42 am

It helps to stop the leechers. Most people would just download directly from the first post but if you ask for post, then PM, you have people who are actually participating and saying thanks. In simple terms, it keeps leechers away. Although it is a simple task, none of them want to take the time to do it if they're only here for one or two things.

Justintr4in - July 5, 2011, 12:48 pm

I understand that it causes your thread to die, but what does it die to? Other threads with people saying post here then pm. So if that was eliminated completely the HQ threads would prosper and the LQ threads would die. Understand my logic?

It's so people don't leech it, or noobs that just registered don't have access to it.
