Well, dont say that because we didnt just deface this.

Here's how it all happend.

We gain access to this.

root/monery , and everything in monery.

I defaced last night so you guys could see,and then today i placed about 200 private and different working shells into the ROOT,not root/monery.

This gave me complete access to the linux dedicated server.

I just used the wipe-all command on the dedicated server and now , NONE of the sites (about 40-60 i estimated when looking) will work , users from hostgator will be wondering where the users are? but hostgator cant do a thing, you see, when i gained access to monery i knew that i had one shell that can automatically crack into the roots. (i used it for rooting a while back) when i uploaded all them shells the c99.chrismonery.com (a subdomain i made on his cpanel) i went thru each one individually to find it, i came across it after about 20minuites , i gained access to root and all of the user accounts, also the linux root cmd line.

So your probably asking why the fuck i deleted everything and didn't just take half the accounts and sell them because if im honest all them accounts where business websites on the best packages.

Thats because hostgator are stupid, they shouldnt let a flaw in the system allow a NORMAL BUYER/USER to upload his own shell into there system, because they might know the buyer/user wont do this, but how do they know that the hacker that stole the buyer/users account wont?

exactly, they dont.

Anyways i rang his wife a second ago and asked her to check the page, i mean security is so stupid, i got his address his dads/mums/wife/son/sister/brother. he signed them all upto paypal to verify? LOLZ , seriously this what the best and easiest deface roothack i have ever accomplished, mainly because of all the loops i had to get round.

Have fun guys and enjoy about 60hostgator accs deleted and probably SHITLOADS of domains wiped :)

They're all fixed now. Should have taken a screenshot.

Rexis - September 14, 2009, 1:59 am

They arent fixed:) They are all just down because like i said i wiped one of hostgator's dedi's.

Some Domains are back online and some seems to have switched hosts - dj5.com

But most of them are still Empty dirs.

Rexis - September 24, 2009, 6:37 am

Yap , The biggest business that was delete (Spitfiretees.com) has so far taken about a week to upload almost nothing, i dont think it will be coming back.
