Cool Animated Avatar Tutorial

First open Photoshop and open a new file with 100x100 pixels. Or similar. But be sure to have a background. (I used background color as HF's.) Now for example the name is Faceless Void and first you type a latter out of your name in this matter it's F. Now after you type it add some cool effects. After that go to Window>Animation. Now there is an Animation tab down. You just Duplicate the layer. (It's located next to the bin.) After that make the text layer invisible by clicking on the eye. If you do everything right it should do something like this :

Now do everything like this untill you type all the latters of your name. If you do everything right it should look something like this:

Now this is the last part. After everything type your full name but be sure to fit in the avatar's size. After that duplicate it and make it invisible (talking about the animation layers.) And than duplicate that and make it visible. After that duplicate it and make it invisible. If you do everything right it should look something like this:

Thank you for reading!

Its a nice guide for a simple thing to do, however, you should add pictures, and fix some grammar to make it a complete tutorial!

This tutorial is a bit hard to follow but thanks for this anyways. Grave digging it because it's a nice tutorial and someone made me an avatar with tutorial and I use to receive a lot of requests regarding my avatar.
