Thread: An effective way to deal with scammers | A Foolproof way to counter scammers

Sun Tzu - July 31, 2011, 6:50 am

We the members of this forum have seen many a scam report, Many of the scammers just get away scot free. I have come with an idea which might prove somewhat or the other good for the buyers and their protection against scamming.

Suggestion:-

1] UserBar:- If a person is found guilty of scamming he should be made to wear a user bar like "Scammers" this will prevent the further scams that he may commit in the market place.

2] Forum Blocking:- Blocking him from accessing the marketplace forum and denying him permission of posting in any of the threads there.

3]Warning wise:-A special warning should be issued if he is proved as a scammer, So that us the upgraded members would be able to view and guard ourselves from it. The expiry of that warning could be anywhere between 12 months to 8 months

4]Rep wise:- His rep page must be cancelled out further, that page must be replaced by something from the administrator as "Scammer ahead deal with caution".

I hope that this, My suggestion if not completely atleast partially be considered such that buyer protection becomes much more stronger in HackForums.

Best regards,
Heaven and Hell,

Bad Blood - July 31, 2011, 6:52 am

Only a fool would think that this is fool proof. Everything here has been suggested and denied.

B?ast - July 31, 2011, 6:53 am

The first suggesion is cool, the others? useless/pointless piece of crap.

Boo. - July 31, 2011, 6:55 am

I like the first and second suggestion.

:) But people might like the scammers userbar and try be a scammer. No kidding some people are stupid.

Think I am fool? Could you in any way substantiate your claim of calling me a fool. I don't expect every thing here to be implemented at least a few from this can be put on the board.

Why so? Care to point out its uselessness?

If they do get to like it they might as well lose there rep and get a Warning the 3rd and 4th point is just for people who are inclined to get that userbar for the lulz.

If you can't explain or voice out your point I'm afraid your IQ is less than a house rat. Some points that i put forth i know are quite hysterical but it isn't all laughs when a person gets scammed.

The first point is a fail itself. A person can never be found guilty officially since it is made very clear that staff will not interfere or be a judge in scam reports.

rayna66684 - July 31, 2011, 7:08 am i say create a new section " List of Scammers" and for every scam that has been proven and is found guilty be put on that list in bold red letters. That way when new members or people on the site can read this with the rules and all the important info first. for example

..

List Of Scammers

..

1. XXbeetleguiseXX
2. FaFa12
3. 45ZooPile

(*Note Be aware with caution when dealing with any sales or deals with them for they have scammed in the past. This list is just a reminder for your marketing safety.)

Thats an example...and random names i just picked..anyways then when someone reports a scam and has proof they can post in this section as well and if proven they did indeed scam should be put on this list.

Fail? Clarify with the Help Docs

<https://hackforums.net/misc.php?action=help&hid=15>

and please answer me back with your queries.

The staff cannot always interfere in a scam report, But an admin can which is,

A scam report is filed-->Staff's are allowed to see if it is the scammer is found to be guilty with proof-->Staff's then forward this report to the Admins for further approval.

Okay. Let me make it more clear. Omni has already said in the past that actions will not be taken against scammers. HF does not do all that. (neither admin nor staff).

All deals are at your own risk.

Soulcal - July 31, 2011, 7:16 am

I like the second suggestion the most, sounds like a good way to stop most scammers, PM's could also be used to "sell" though.

P?radox - July 31, 2011, 7:21 am

Even though staff do not judge scam reports it would be great if there was one moderator of the deal dispute section and had the ability to give users a picture that would show up in every post (next to awards?) that said Trade With Caution.

But also it was said that there might be occasional check-ups on scammers, that was what was been put up on the Help Docs. If omniscient himself doesn't want to take action against a scammer why would he have "scam reporting" in the Help Docs?

Yes, But the instance of another scam occuring would be greatly reduced.

The Scam Reports section is designed to alert other members of scammers. It also can serve to help resolve an issue between members. We can't get your money back or force a member to complete a deal. Do not PM staff. Our staff on occasion will ban a scammer, if the evidence is on site and apparent. If you got scammed, we would appreciate it if you report the scammer by making a thread in the scam reports section, with the following content:

A Modertor might be a nice idea, But the instances of him going berserk/bribed would be large because money is invloved. There can be a moderator though but he needs to be hell as loyal and trustworthy towards HF and the Marketplace.

Actions against scammers are taken only on ocassions, not always. You are suggesting them to be taken always.

It alright if it is taken occasionally. Point here is if one person gets caught by this and is made to wear an user bar like i mentioned it would immediately force other user who are about to scam think twice if they want to ruin their reputation here, My method I presented here has an effect on the scammer, psychologically.

kaneshackedlol - July 31, 2011, 8:21 am

Neither admins nor staff interfere with scam reports.

1. Do research before doing a deal with them.
2. Not all scammers did it themselves, there are many accounts stolen and used to scam.
3. No. Just no.
4. Rep means nothing, get that into your head.

PedroDJ - July 31, 2011, 8:22 am

Agree with point 1 and 2: users should easily know if another users was tagged as SCAMMER or involved in a Deal Dispute.

Fortezza - July 31, 2011, 8:50 am

Hackforums doesnt take care of things happening on Hackforums Marketplace. Simple !!!

Trihunter3 - July 31, 2011, 9:16 am

Yes, But he has also mentioned that in the Help Docs that The staff might intervene occasionally if they feel that the scam report is 100% legitimate.

2] Is a scammers membership that valuable? I don't see why that much trouble should be gone through, they should be banned if they're proven a scammer.

3] Same as above

4] Same as 2

Like i said Make a thread and just list peoples accounts that have been reported as scammers. No bans then would have to be made or going threw that mess for the admins and mods. A thread in the scammers section Labeled "List Of Scammers" i think would be the most appropriate and have it as a sticky. Easy to add more scammers and that way people can view this list before doing any business with any members. But i do think something should be done weather its one of the OP options or the list of scammers what ever it may be.

As far as I know there is already a database of scammers made by Red Lions.

TehShrink - August 1, 2011, 5:10 am

This is as useful as banning, the scammer will just make a new account.

Apathy - August 1, 2011, 5:15 am

I like the 1st one for a time period and the 2nd one for people who do it more then once.

This thread made judge dredd laugh on skype today. Thoughtful, but not likely to happen. As it would be making scammers more of a hassle for staff to create permissions for group and userbar and move user to group each time.

xiBotx - August 2, 2011, 12:50 am

Why not do this, if someone has an open scam report against them, give them the User Group and User bar "Convicted Scammer".

And when you are in this group, you cannot access the Market section.

If they find it as an hassle then no problem let hackforums be hackforums and scammers be on the rise, I personally am not affected by the scammers since i don't do any deals what so ever.

Regarding Judge dredd i can't find what's so funny about this thread that made him laugh.

Dear Judge/Omni,

You really can't say "Stupidity" is rep abuse, another fine example by OP.
