BOOM! Pixel was fired

Ok, I've ran it through minimal settings using DarkComet 3.2, 3.3 and it Corrupted each and every server. No explorer injection, and I've tried with/without Crypter's options. It may be FUD, but it isn't working with those DarkComet versions, that's for sure.

sasquatch14 - August 4, 2011, 3:38 pm

Thankyou so much for this. This crypter is great. Good job.

Aurulent - August 5, 2011, 3:08 am

I can't get it to work. I get, "Unable to find a runtime version to run this application." when I open it after crypting it. I only get this when using the stub that came with it. If I don't use the stub I get, "Unhandled exception has occurred in your application.. Empty file name is not legal. Parameter name: sourceFileName."

paganxxxpride - August 7, 2011, 2:26 pm

This is probably a rely stupid question but is a crypter supposed to be infected with a TR/Dropper.Gen?

I know that the stubs of a crypter will probibly come up as infected but I'm not sure about the builder.

So ya is the crypter supposed to show a TR/Dropper.Gen in the scan?

Dont worry I scanned at NoVirusThanks.org with ?Do not distribute Checked.

(Aug 7, 2011 02:26 PM)paganxxxpride Wrote: [\[CITE\]](#) This is probably a rely stupid question but is a crypter supposed to be infected with a TR/Dropper.Gen?

I know that the stubs of a crypter will probably come up as infected but I'm not sure about the builder.

So ya is the crypter supposed to show a TR/Dropper.Gen in the scan?

Dont worry I scanned at NoVirusThanks.org with ?Do not distribute Checked.

thanx for scanning on NoVirusThanks.org detection rate current is 1/34 ?
