Link for download - original page - <http://www.insidepro.com/download/passwordspro.zip>

Link for license key - <http://www.appartcafe.com/.g/PasswordsProKey.zip>

Nothing to scan, obviously.

If you have dual core processor, you can make two copies of program folder and run two instances in same time and speed up a process of recovering passwords , for example one instance for simple dictionary attack, other for bruteforcing or hybrid attack or whatever.

Load Plugins : open program, open Service - Plugins - right click on field,"Add" and locate folder with plugins in program folder. Program sometimes act slower when all plugins are loaded, so check every plugin for functionality and if you don't need some of them - uninstall. I use only Dictionary Generator and Hash queue (for quick download uncracked hashes from insidepro forum).

This is -all in all- the best tool on the market. Second is inout' tool (only because of speed), find link in this sub-forum.

Read manual, it's like 5 minutes of reading for full amount of knowledge that anybody need to know about this program and basic information's about types of hashes, types of attacks etc.

This is a little motivation, just to show efficiency of program with good password list and Hybrid Attack , 6 hours running --> <http://paste2.org/p/441222>

Ok thanks, I'd already done that on a hunch, thanks again for the tools.

zackwg23 - October 17, 2009, 6:22 pm

Thanks TZ- for the nice share ?

i RaT YoU - October 17, 2009, 6:47 pm

isnt this for your passwords?????

flAmingw0rm - October 17, 2009, 7:03 pm

Thanks for the share TZ-. ?

puzzyfartz - October 17, 2009, 7:31 pm

awesome bro- love the easy entry stuff. ur a life saver.

Meritorius - October 17, 2009, 9:23 pm

What about for non Md5s?

Suffering - October 17, 2009, 9:25 pm

hooooly shit.nice job and thanks for sharing!!!

EDIT:The link for the license key is down.

TZ- - October 17, 2009, 9:29 pm

it's not. I just tried.

Suffering - October 17, 2009, 9:31 pm

Weird.It's down for me :(

TZ- - October 17, 2009, 9:33 pm

I will upload in my online folder, wait few minutes.

Thanks TZ, I'm going to check this out.

TZ- - October 17, 2009, 9:42 pm

ok.
all elements have same system for loading - right click - add... dictionaries, plugins...

Suffering - October 17, 2009, 9:42 pm

Things confusing as shit.You might have to write up a tut.LOL

TZ- - October 17, 2009, 9:44 pm

it's not confusing. what is hard in steps right click , add... and locate folder with plugins or dictionaries ?

Suffering - October 17, 2009, 9:45 pm

Lol...Nevermind...I'll figure it out.

F-Secure won't let me access the .exe. That really doesn't matter since I can make it an exception, but when I checked the F-Secure support/database site about "Trojan:W32/PasswordsPro" the following info came up:

Spoiler (Click to View) This is the family description for the Trojan:W32/PasswordsPro trojan family.

Variants in the PasswordsPro trojan family disguise themselves as password cracker programs. While active, the program silently drops payloads that may consist of additional malware.

Installation

When executed, the trojan will drop the following files:

- %temp%\setuphelper.exe
- %temp%\setup.exe - This is a copy of the malware.

The setuphelper.exe file is a working, clean password cracker program. In addition, numerous additional files, using almost the same name but with differing numbers, will be created. These additional files are malware.

Note that the directory that the dropping occurs to may vary from %temp%.

Activity

Additional malicious behavior depends on the specific payloads of the dropped malware.

So, for the sake of my peace of mind, could someone prove that F-Secure is wrong? :P

TZ- - October 20, 2009, 9:01 am

Yes, F-Secure is wrong. Just be sure that program is downloaded from original site, from link that I gave here. Some dirty versions was on the internet and now original is flagged, too.

Same thing happened to sqli helper 2.7, because of some idiot who binded shit with the program, original is flagged like malware.

and anyway, you can check temp folder (Start - Run - type %temp% and ok) and see yourself that nothing of malware will be created inside.

H4ck3rD4gg3r - October 20, 2009, 12:29 pm

Okay, thank you. ^^

Gonna post some thoughts about the program after I've tried it out. :)
