Thread: Oh Damn. Public Apology to Ethereal

Omniscient - August 9, 2011, 1:55 pm

This is embarrassing. I rep fucked and banned the wrong guy.

Because of this thread: <https://hackforums.net/showthread.php?tid=1580366>

I had done a lot of quoting and a couple bans. Somehow I mixed up Ethereal with Mike.

<https://hackforums.net/member.php?action=profile&uid=458073>

I thought it was him that made this statement:

Quote:It's because Omni is so greedy he doesn't care if someone loses hard earned money. He just want's the scammers to donate to him,.

We even had a PM discussion about the issue but ultimately I rep fucked and banned for 6 months. A staff member alerted me that I got the wrong guy.

I sincerely apologize. This is incredibly embarrassing for me. With humility I hope he accepts this apology. Sorry about that PM. It was not intended for you. I'll send you a PM too saying more.

BTW here is the member who was wrongly rep fucked.

That's not actually Mike.

That's a different person, the real Mike. was banned for "cross posting" when he didn't even cross post.

Ethereal and I have had differences in the past, but I know what it feels like to be repfucked. Even though mine wasn't accident, it wasn't self induced.

From what I understand reversing them is impossible as it deletes all that members positive rep from the db, to reverse it would require him to make a backup of the reputation table every second and then just place the latest backup into the db. Well unless he wanted to lose some rep that other members have given/received

Omniscient - August 9, 2011, 2:06 pm

Not going to create an undo button for rep fuck. But the benefit to him is that I did remove any negs and neutrals he had. In a week his rep will look better than it ever did.

I don't want to sound like a pretentious child, but 'apology accepted'. He has already received a couple of PM's in regards to various things, but I just want to confirm publicly that there are no hard feelings. We all make mistakes, with his workload, what do you expect.

Oh, and Omni, if you keep that award and the reason, you will have an unbelievable amount of respect from not just me, but the community. Humility is respected, and I aspire to be as genuine to come forth with such an open apology as you.

While my opinion before may have been slightly skewed, I can assure you that it has only improved from this incident(but that isn't advice to go round doing it to everyone!).

Sorry for quick, not very well thought out reply. Been kinda busy since this started.

For those who want the story, I will discuss with Omni, and then write a full explanation, with a couple of screenshots, to satisfy your curiosity. Subject to veto by him, of course.

Omni just wanted to alert us of the member that was repfucked, he never encouraged or hinted at us to give him reputation, whoever gave him reputation did it at his/her own leisure. If someone posted a link to your profile, are they encouraging us to giving you rep? Also, people are banned everyday for infecting and spamming. Please note HF's "Semi-Hands off policy" towards the Marketplace. A public apology was the right thing to do.

Wow I missed all of this. :o Well good to see you are taking responsibility Omni. And good to see no hard felling between you and Ethereal.

Ahhhh alright I see where your coming from now. Thanks for the break down. I'd imagine it's hard to run a huge site like this in all honesty.

Ethereal - August 9, 2011, 3:12 pm

Are you truly as ignorant as you appear?

It DOES show that he's human though. Put yourself in his position, he doesn't have time to justify them to you.

Glassy - August 9, 2011, 3:15 pm

People make mistake at all times. It is okay and I am sure he will forgive you. I would If I was in his position.

Nur0x - August 9, 2011, 3:20 pm

Im sure he'll understand dude, you're only human after all :)

If you have ever stepped foot in a public school and took at a seat at one of the desks you'd understand the difference between attesting responsibility to an inanimate object, and an animate one like say a person.

Jesse makes the decisions in the end. Everything that happens on HackForums (contrary to the stupid mybb built in terms and conditions and whatever rules/regulations thread he has created) is his responsibility. Whether it be legally or socially. Its in his name.

He is responsible for the youth masses he is encompassing. He better have enough candy for all of them.

This is becoming tedious. Take your grievances to Omni directly in PMs - you win yourself no favours by talking bullshit publicly.

Hehe, that was pretty funny. I agree, to do in PMs.

We all make mistakes. But..

To err is human, to forgive is divine.

The thing you did in this thread, has raised your value in my eyes.

Asswipe on Omni?

Oh lord - it's never looked better!

Oops

Did he just get banned / closed?

D3xus - August 9, 2011, 3:49 pm

To make a mistake is all right. To admit is being a good guy.

And Today got banned for what he said.

Omniscient - August 9, 2011, 3:50 pm

Well we've had the Grammar Nazis and the flames. Appears this thread ran it's course. :)
