$30 for a "Polymorphic" Encryption,

I thought polymorphic changes code on runtime, i'm not sure if im right. Scamming your customers = bullshit,

If this crypter was not shit and actually had a polymorphic method it would be worth Thousands
Also, replace polymorphic with Codedom Build

Also, replace polymorphic with Codedom Build
Metamorphic changes code on runtime.
Polymorphic means different output each crypt so replacing with CodeDom build would be totally stupid as they aint got nothing to do with each other.

Also, notice all FLEX Crypter customers.

This friday I will be leaving for 1 week for a class trip. Please dont freak out, I will get back to the crypter on return. If the crypter gets detected, I dont need all of you telling me, I'll find it out. As for the current detections, I'll try to release an update later tonight, but this whole week is packed due to us leaving for a week. So once I finish school work, I'll get back to updating it ASAP.

My reasoning is that, you may:

- A. Be out for more than 6 hours after the detection, unless you have no life.
- B. Encounter some problems while trying to FUD it.
- C. Not be able to find the part that's being detected.

Unless you use an obfuscator to remove your detections if you get stuck, then I highly doubt that you can guarentee a 6 hour re-fud each detection.

Yes I can't write an English essay because I was attempting to save time by outsourcing. I've had to write 4 essays today including this one, 2 on Law, and 1 on Chemistry. It's called I was bored as fuck with essays, and wanted someone else to finish my last one as I would've most likely done a less-than satisfactory job due the excessive amount of writing I've done.

I took them down because you were bitching at me bud, and also because I finally finished.

Man please don't lie, I've been telling you that it's detected since 1/2 weeks! AVScan is full of shit, I will never scan again over there because they are full of shit, really, I scanned a same file on avscan and another one that deosn't distribute sample, and avscan found nothing, but the other one showed 2/9, please refud it, it's what you say.

So, its not bullshit.

But yes, now it is detected.

ZeroLancer2 - November 19, 2011, 7:30 am i have some issues i showed you over teamviwer and i cant run the crypter on mylaptop for some reason(it says some resources are missing.

can you give me an other license so i try it on my desktop (windows 7) and disable the first one?

thanks alot

Vipe® - November 19, 2011, 9:08 am

Thanks for deleting my account, I just didn't see your stupid T.O.S because there's so many text in your thread and you just put it at the end.

Kill?Muvz - November 19, 2011, 9:10 am

All the TOS's are put at the very end. Next time read everything carefully.

Vipe® - November 19, 2011, 9:37 am

Yes i Know, I didn't read it, I even shut my crypt service thread and he still doesnt want to give it back, he's asking 15 bucks. -_-

All those people you gave crypts to, could have been possible customers for me. $15 is a small price to pay for all the crypts you gave.

Vipe® - November 19, 2011, 11:40 am

They will never pay 25 bucks for a simple crypt, so you didn't lose customers man, just be nice please.

I'm not trying to be a dick or anything but pretty much any program you buy will have a ToS so you should've read it before giving out a crypting service. I don't see why you would want to though because it would only make it detectable faster and even though you didn't read the ToS which you should have and it's not even that long so it won't waste a lot of your time.Many other people who sell their crypter's also do not allow their customers to have a crypting service.

Hes giving you a pretty good deal, 15$.

With how lnog that thread was up you should have made 3x times that.

Vipe® - November 19, 2011, 12:22 pm

Crotex - November 20, 2011, 3:50 am

Hello!

This wont work for me, with CyberGate. I used the settings you sent to me by PM which was:No install

No injection

No artis

UPX Compress

But when I used that (diddent know what to put on Startup on crypter so stood on "Servers") a black "cmd-window" popped up, and the slave popped up in CG, but when he closed the window, he disappeared. So I tried with the following settings:No install

Default browser (injection)

No antis

UPX Compress

and with "Servers" at startup on the crypter. This worked, until the slave restarted his computer -.- So I tried with "Custom startup" on the crypter, and it saved my file into the Windows Startup map, wich any noob can find. And it also started my binded file every time the slave restarted his computer. So please, can you tell me exactly wich settings I should use/make vid.

Else, the crypter is FUD but it needs a proper startup ?

edit; if anyone else have some working settings with CG, I would luv if you would share em! ;)

Vipe® - November 20, 2011, 8:22 am

I agree, when I used this crypter the startup never worked...

.bLaZeD - November 20, 2011, 11:46 am

@Felted. Check my flex crypter v2 thread. I've implemented new proper startup that bypasses all Avs at runtime.

.bLaZeD - November 29, 2011, 5:15 pm

Hey guys. After being repfucked, once again, I can finally post.

As of now, the only detection is from dr. web. I have decided to take time away from the computer a bit and focus on school a bit more. In less than 3 weeks, I will have my christmas break. By that time, the new licensing system will be in beta, which means more packages, expiring serials, etc. Once that is available, I will implement it with FLEX Crypter v2, and do the finishing touches. Then afterwards, I will release FLEX Crypter v2. So, please be patient, and in early/mid december, FLEX Crypter v2 will be out.

Thanks,
bLaZeD

.bLaZeD - December 12, 2011, 6:05 pm

Quick update guys. Aeonhack should have .net seal 2 released very very soon. This is good news. All I have to do is implement that into FLEX v2, add a few more security features of my own, and we are good to go! Hopefully, you can consider this as an early christmas present.
